CANADIAN AND U.S. FLYERS OVER ROCKIES IN CONTINENT FLIGHT

LONG DISTANCE NON-STOP FLIGHT ENDS U.S. DERBY

Duke Schiller, Ontario Aviator in Windsor Plane, and Edward Stinson, American Flyer, Speeding From New York to Spokane; Class "B" Flyers Reach Spokane

Roosevelt Field, N.Y., Sept. 22.—Telegrams were received here today by the Rogers Air Line, forwarded from points where they were dropped by Duke Schiller and Eddie Bowen, in their nonstop, cross-country flight, indicating that all is well with the fliers.

A second message from Stratford, Ont., read: "Still going. All O.K. Just eating. Weather clear now, but some rain. (Signed) Duke and Eddie."

One message, forwarded from Stratford, Ont., read: "Still going. All O.K. Weather good! 10:30."

The messages were dropped from the plane in envelopes. Long silk streamers marked their fall from the plane, and on the face of the envelope is a request that the finder relay the message.

2,300-MILE BEE LINE
New York, Sept. 22.—Four men in two huge monoplane to-day presumably were speeding westward over a new nonstop transcontinental air trail, with fame, a share in $15,000 in prizes and Spokane as their goal.

Their course lay over a 2,300-mile (Continued on page 5)

B.C. PAVES WAY FOR RATE APPEAL ON NEW RULINGS
Further Action Will Depend on Effect of Railway Board's Latest Orders

What effect recent rulings by the Railway Commission will have upon freight rates in British Columbia was not clear to-day, following the issuance of reasons for the commission's latest judgments yesterday.

Until a full text of the commission's statement, issued at Ottawa, is received here, officials of the Government declined to speculate on the probable result of the rulings. Before the commission's instructions have been thoroughly digested in their relation to the rate situation of the Province, it is impossible to say what success British Columbia has achieved in its demand for rate reductions.

PREPARES APPEAL NOTICE
Meanwhile, G. G. McGeer, Government rate counsel, has been instructed to prepare a formal notice of appeal from the commission's rulings to the Governor-General in council. This action was ordered by the Provincial Government so that the time during which appeals may be entered may not lapse. Whether an actual appeal will be made will depend entirely upon the effect of the Railway Commission's rulings.

AWAITS CONSIDERATION
"Until a full copy of the commission's statement handed down yesterday can be considered here it will be impossible to say whether an appeal over it should be taken or not," Attorney-General McKinnon stated. "As soon as this document is received here, which should be during the next few days, it will be most carefully considered by the Government. If it appears from this that some matters require further argument, then an appeal will be taken. Meanwhile we are taking such legal steps as are necessary to pave the way for an appeal later should such action be decided on. If we failed to take these steps now the time for an appeal would lapse."

Lord Hamilton, One Time First Lord of Admiralty, Dead
London, Sept. 22.—Lord George Hamilton, former first lord of the Admiralty and a former Secretary of State for India, died at his home in London to-day, aged eighty-one. An active part in British politics for many years, first entering parliament in 1868. He held various cabinet posts, and in 1916-17 was chairman of the Mesopotamian Commission signing a report which renewed British officials for the Mesopotamians.

IS NOMINATED FOR NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

SIR ROBERT BADEN-POWELL
Stockholm, Sept. 22.—Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement, has now been formally nominated as a candidate for the Nobel Peace Prize. It is believed here that the world-wide Scout organization ticks the nomination.

SIXTH PARALYSIS CASE IN VANCOUVER

Ban on Meetings in Vernon Expires Monday
Vancouver, Sept. 22.—The sixth case of infantile paralysis in Greater Vancouver is reported in Point Grey, where a thirteen-year-old girl is said to have a very mild form of the disease.

Vernon, B.C., Sept. 22.—The ban on meetings in this city is to expire on Monday morning, September 26, provided there is no outbreak of infantile paralysis.

Schools are to open October 3. To date there has not been one case in this city. Prompt measures are said to have been responsible for a check on the northward spread of the disease.

PROVINCE ASKS TENDERS ON NEW $6,000,000 LOAN, FIRST AND LAST OF PRESENT YEAR

First bonds to be issued by the British Columbia Government this year will be floated immediately, following the action of the Finance Department to-day in calling tenders on a new loan of $6,000,000. This will represent the Government's only entry into the financial markets in 1927, it was announced.

The new loan will refund $5,000,000 in short-term bonds issued for roads and land settlement purposes, and will provide $1,000,000 in new money for roads, B.C. University and institutional buildings.

KEEN INTEREST DISPLAYED
Inquiries received at the Finance Department from Eastern Canada and the United States indicated that numerous tenders will be filed on the loan. Bids will be opened at noon on Wednesday, September 28.

Alternate tenders are being called on $3,000,000 two-year four per cent debentures, $2,000,000 two-year four and one-half per cent debentures, and $3,000,000 thirty-year four and one-half per cent gold sinking fund bonds.

Complete arrangements for the calling of tenders were made by Hon. J. D. MacLean, Premier and Minister of Finance, before he left for the interior this week. The actual call for bids was sent out last night.

Full details of the Government's plans in regard to the loan and figures showing the financial position of the Province at this date were given in a statement telegraphed to leading financial houses when tenders were invited. The statement follows:

"Bonds will be dated September 25 and payment in each case to be made in Canadian funds with accrued interest at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Victoria, upon delivery of interim certificates without coupons, which will be ready for delivery within seven days from date of purchase."

PARENTS TRY TO IDENTIFY LOVED ONES

Bodies of Boys Lost in Saskatchewan Mission Fire Beyond Recognition

Occupants of Dormitory Were Caught Between Two Sheets of Flame

Beval, Sask., Sept. 22.—Grief overshadowed the little community of Lac la Ponge to-day as parents and relatives of the victims of the fire which destroyed the Catholic mission at Beval, Sask., collected at the ruins in an almost hopeless effort to identify the charred remains of their loved ones.

Laid side by side in an improvised morgue, the bodies of the nineteen boys who perished in the flames were in many instances burned beyond recognition. Pathetic scenes were witnessed as mothers and fathers, huddled over the tiny forms, examining charred bits of clothing in the hope of identifying their own children.

FRATERNAL SISTER
Through all the grief, emerges a note of glowing praise of the heroic efforts of Sister Lea, a teacher at the mission, who sacrificed her life in an attempt to save the lives of the trapped boys.

According to word received here to-day, Sister Lea, after having ascertained that all the girls had escaped, rushed into the burning building when attracted by the screams of the inmates of an upper story dormitory, whose escape had been cut off by flames. She vanished in a cloud of smoke and died, shouldering encouragement to the helpless inmates.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN HANKOW

Gang Fires on Escort and Rescues Suspected Communist Leader

Hankow, China, Sept. 22.—Hankow is under martial law with streets heavily patrolled, following a disturbance outside the British concession when a gang of armed men rescued a uniformed prisoner, believed to be a communist leader.

The man had been arrested aboard a Japanese steamer and was being taken through the crowded streets by a Chinese escort. The gang, appearing suddenly, opened fire at point blank range. The escort returned the fire and the bullets flew thick and fast. An undetermined number of passersby were killed or injured. The prisoner escaped but several members of the gang were arrested and martial law was proclaimed.

SOLDIERS DISARMED
In connection with the case, the Japanese authorities this morning removed fifty Chinese soldiers from the Japanese steamer, disarmed them and held them under arrest pending the arrival of a squad of Chinese troops.

After the arrival of the latter, trouble arose and a Japanese sentry bayoneted in the neck. He fired in self-defence and this was followed by machine gun firing in which one Chinese was killed and a few wounded. The situation later was restored to normal.

Australian Aviator Leaves Michigan on New Zealand Flight

Detroit, Sept. 22.—Capt. Frederick A. Giles, Australian aviator, took off from Wyandotte, Mich., near here, at 6:45 a.m. to-day, bound for Ford Field, Lansing, Ill., near Chicago, the first stop on his proposed flight from Detroit to Wellington, N.Z.

Flying a Hess Bluebird single passenger plane, Capt. Giles made a perfect take off under full load. He expected to land at Ford Field at 9 a.m. He will remain in Chicago for a day to have his plane inspected before starting his westward flight.

Whistles roared the first welcome when the "Spirit of St. Louis" soared over the city from Los Angeles. Thousands lined the route of a long parade which escorted the aviator from the landing field to the city stadium and cheered every foot of his ride to that point, where, again greeted tumultuously, Lindbergh spoke to a throng estimated in excess of 50,000.

FIGHTING TO-DAY FOR HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

FORKE SHATTERS CRITICISM OF SETTLER POLICY

Canada Receives Larger Annual Influx Than Any Other Dominion, Minister of Immigration Points Out in Answer to Synod Charges; Low Rate to Farmers From British Isles and Free Passage to Children Stimulate Immigration of British-born

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, to-day issued the following statement in reply to certain criticism of Canada's immigration policy, which appeared in a Canadian Press dispatch of September 20, from Kingston, Ont.:

"I gather from the Canadian Press dispatch of September 20 that the principal grounds for criticism of our immigration policy as viewed by some members of the General Synod of the Anglican Church are:

"1.—The employment of twenty-five Roman Catholic priests as immigration officials.

"2.—The attitude of the Hon. Mr. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London.

"3.—The lack of immigration activity on the part of Canada in the British Isles as compared with the activity of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

"4.—The large influx of continental immigrants as compared with British, in connection with which there is a reference to 46,000 Hungarians having recently been brought to Canada and distributed throughout the West under a promise of $25 a week.

"5.—That the British women have to pass examinations before being admitted to Canada while foreign women are admitted without examination.

"6.—That the whole policy of immigration is the policy of the Roman Church.

REPARATION AGENTS
"1.—The department has under appointment not twenty-five but twelve French-Canadian Roman Catholic priests, eleven of whom received an annual salary of $800 and the other $1,400. These are not employed as immigration agents, but rather as repatriation agents, whether French or English, are not classified as immigrants. For many years the French or English repatriation movement has been looked upon as important and various methods have been tried to bring about the return to Canada of an increased number. French-Canadian priests have been employed for probably twenty-five years by successive governments, as one of the most effective ways of bringing about the return of French-Canadians and their settlement upon the land. While only twelve French-Canadian priests are employed under salary, the services of five or six others have been utilized at various times without salary and on payment only of actual traveling expenses.

"2.—I observe that Hon. Mr. Larkin, who is now in Canada, has already replied to the remarks attributed to him. It is quite true that my department has not in London the window display possessed by Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. Perhaps it is not generally known that these overseas Dominions centralize their efforts in London while Canada many years ago adopted and still pursues the policy of district agencies. Outside of London we have four district agencies in England, one in Wales, two in Scotland and two in Ireland and these have all excellent display windows and are centres of publicity and propaganda.

GREATEST GATE IN HISTORY FOR TITLE BATTLE

Challenger Is Confident and in High Spirits as He Weighs in Before Bout With Gene Tunney in Effort to Recover World's Crown

Sports Extra Will Give All Details Of Fight To-night

The Times will publish a sports extra to-night giving all details of the heavyweight fight between Gene Tunney, the champion, and Jack Dempsey, ex-titleholder. The fight, round by round, will be given, together with colorful descriptive stories of the crowd, and incidents which come under the eyes of the experts of the Associated Press, who will "cover" the fight.

The main event is scheduled to start at about 6:45 o'clock Victoria time. The fight is to be ten rounds, and if it goes the limit it should be over by 7:30 o'clock. The Times extra will be on the street shortly afterwards.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Jack Dempsey tipped the beam at 183½ pounds this afternoon when he weighed in officially before the state athletic commission for to-night's ten-round bout with Gene Tunney, champion in a fight for the world's heavyweight championship. This was nearly four pounds less than the experts figured the ex-champion would scale, and was accepted as an indication of excellent condition.

There will be the greatest money gate in the history of the prize ring to see a fight, which has aroused more interest than any other for the world's heavyweight crown has ever done, and was accepted as an indication of excellent condition.

Dempsey was pronounced in perfect shape by Dr. Joseph L. Russell, official examiner for the commission. To avoid any mob scenes the weighing was held without previous announcement in the gym of the Athletic Club, but it did not take long for a crowd of enthusiastic fight fans to collect. Dempsey appeared in high spirits.

His weight was two pounds under the figure he scaled for his fight two months ago in New York. He weighed 181 for his fight with Tunney a year ago.

VICTORIA ENJOYS RADIO BROADCAST FROM NEW YORK
Big Tie-up Enables Local Fans to Listen in on Radio Industries Banquet

Hundreds of Victoria radio fans last night formed part of the great audience throughout Canada and the United States who listened in on the broadcast of the Radio Industries banquet at New York.

The gigantic tie-up arranged by the National Broadcasting Company and involving seventy-five stations, made the distribution of the programme possible. In every corner of the United States and in most Canadian cities the broadcast was linked up with the audience probably running into 5,000,000 people.

CLARITY AND VOLUME
In Victoria the programme was heard with remarkable clarity. The seven stations of the Orange Chain on the coast were hooked up into the network and most Victorians received their entertainment from stations KOMO and KPOA in Seattle, which stations came through with plenty of volume.

Other coast stations linked up were KGO, Spokane; KGW, Portland; KGO, Oakland; KFO, San Francisco, and KFI, Los Angeles.

The Radio Industries banquet was held in connection with the big show in New York and many manufacturers gathered at the festive board. In addition to speeches from leading radio men of the continent, vaudeville turns by popular New York artists and musical and vocal selections were rendered during the six-hour programme.

Again this evening a huge tie-up will broadcast Tunney-Dempsey championship fight in Chicago. This chain is sponsored by the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Aeroplane Wreckage Near Cape Gris Nes

Boulogne, France, Sept. 22.—Wreckage of an aeroplane has been washed upon the beach near Cape Gris Nes. It consists of the back part of the body. It is of wood, but still has a shred of canvas fixed to it by a round-headed copper screw.

It is suggested that it might be part of the "White Bird," the machine used by Nungesser and Goll.

More probably, it is thought, the fragment comes from some British plane. In any case authorities here state, the maker of the plane alone would be able to identify the relic.

JAP'S BOAT DRIFTING
Prince Rupert, Sept. 22.—A boat belonging to E. Yamashita, for twenty-five years a steamer-salmon fisherman, was found adrift off the North Pacific coast. No sign of the Japanese was seen, and he is presumed drowned.

FIFTY INJURED
Rome, Italy, Sept. 22.—Fifty persons were injured, ten seriously in a train collision here early this morning.

BRITISH IMPORTS SWELL U.S. FIGURE

Millions of Dollars Worth From British Possessions Come Through U.S. to Canada

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—An unusual angle on Canada's imports from the

"Build B.C."
Mrs. Norman's Good Idea

Mrs. H. C. Norman became convinced she and her family owed a debt to the Province when one day it occurred to her, she writes, that the money her husband and two sons earn comes out of the resources of British Columbia. From then on, she writes from her home in Nelson, this idea turned her to consider B.C. products, and it was thus three years ago she began to use Pacific Milk.

"Build B.C."

United States was explained by Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, speaking at the annual banquet of the Bread and Cakes Bakers' Association of Canada here last night. Mr. Malcolm pointed out that goods valued at many millions listed as imports from the United States were in reality British imports.

The most striking example of this was the $26,000,000 worth of rubber for automobile tires that came to Canada through the United States and appeared in the trade balance as United States imports. As all raw rubber came from British possessions, Canada's imports in this commodity from the United States really constituted a British import via the United States owing to the great quantity used there it could be imported more cheaply, the Trade Minister said.

THROUGH CANADIAN PORTS
Up to the present time, fruits from the West Indies came under the same heading. Now, however, the Canadian Government has established direct steamship lines with the West Indies, and it was hoped that in future fruits for consumption would arrive through Canadian ports.

Mr. Malcolm's address was a plea for the greater use of British-made goods in Canada.

Speaking on immigration matters, Mr. Malcolm asked if it was not a wiser policy to continue a sane method of selective immigration from the Old Country and Northern Europe rather than flood the land with undesirable to the detriment of native sons and daughters.

The speaker thought Canadian bakers had a record to be proud of. During the war Canada enjoyed the cheapest bread in the world, and there had been no profiteering among the bakers, he said.

R. H. D. Sim, Toronto, was elected president of the association.

ROBB FORECASTS SALES AND INCOME TAX REDUCTION

Minister of Finance Believed to Have Plan to Save Taxpayers More Money

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 22.—A reduction in the income tax to assist industry and commerce and a reduction in the sales tax to help the working man are thought to be the objectives mentioned by Hon. J. R. Robb, Minister of Finance, in his recent speech in North Huron forecasting further tariff reduction next year.

Until the budget is brought down the public, not even the Cabinet, knows that taxation reductions or increase may be in store, but several factors have entered into the situation that point to the reductions suggested.

The two taxes mentioned are direct taxes and the benefit thereof is immediately felt. Last year the income tax was reduced the taxpayer saw the benefit in 1926. Reductions on his income tax return a definite amount of money saved by the present administration. By changing that 10 per cent to 20 or 25 in the budget, there will be a similar, visible, and concrete evidence for the public to see.

In the case of the sales tax the reduction will be felt in the reduction in the price of commodities, not very much, but still enough to be seen. The retail merchants of Canada have repeatedly pressed for a reduction or the abolition of the sales tax as an impediment to business and it is thought that Mr. Robb might be able to do this.

Possibility of reductions via the tariff route do not loom very large. The tariff board has reported as a number of cases half of which asked for tariff increases and half for reductions. The two things the general public is most interested in which have been repeatedly discussed as objects for tariff reduction, were the subject of applications for increases. These are boots and shoes, and woolen goods, the latter having a duty based on the cost of clothes. So far as is known the tariff board has made no recommendation with reference to any big reductions such as have taken place in farm implements and automobiles in recent years.

The chief indication pointing to income tax reductions is that Hon. Ruler, Minister of National Revenue, has already collected for this year as much money as the tax yielded in the whole of last year. He has eliminated the privileged politicians and the tax dodger, and has made everybody pay who had a taxable income, equalizing the burden to a greater extent. In addition he has collected a great deal more money in customs duties, so that his department has contributed huge additional sums to the National Exchequer by carrying out the law as it was intended. This has had the additional benefit of increasing the sale of "Made in Canada goods."

One retail merchant wrote to the department recently that since Mr. Ruler's preventive officers had been in his district, his sales had increased 30 per cent.

Some hope has been expressed that there would be a reduction in the excise on liquors. This would be popular in some quarters where there is considerable consumption and it would be of assistance to the national revenue department in curbing smuggling. The chief reason for smuggling when government control is in operation is the heavy excise imposed which is evaded. It is not believed, however, that there will be a reduction in the excise, there having been no popular demand for such reduction. In some quarters the excise on liquors is considered as the best kind of a luxury tax and will remain as such.

Promise to Do Exceptionally Well in Northern Saskatchewan

Winnipeg, Sept. 22.—Landed aristocrats and other farming men who have turned from Germany to Canada to escape the high taxes in their own land promise to do exceptionally well in Northern Saskatchewan, according to Dr. J. Schindler von Zeberg of Berlin, who was in Winnipeg to-day on his way home after settling a party of twenty-four Germans in the Stawburg district. Dr. von Zeberg was a visitor this morning at the office of F. J. Freer, superintendent of the Canadian National Land Settlement Association.

"Our people are very much impressed with the country," he said, "and are looking forward to living here in Canada and building up their farms and homes. In co-operation with A. N. Schneider at Stawburg and the Canadian National officials, I have been able to settle the party brought out this Summer on 6,000 acres."

Mountainside Fall Ends Student's Life

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Injuries received on Sunday when he fell forty feet over a cliff in the mountains south of Granite Falls, North Arm of Burrard Inlet, resulted in the death of David Warden, 1444 Forty-third Avenue West, in the General Hospital yesterday.

Warden, in company with W. Sparks, a fellow employee of the Coast Quarries Limited, went for a hike in the mountains on Sunday afternoon. While passing near the edge of a cliff, he slipped and fell. He was unable to move and Sparks left to bring aid.

The search party had difficulty in finding Warden at the base of the cliff and it was not until Monday evening that he was located.

Warden was removed to the General Hospital. It was found that no limbs were fractured but severe internal injuries were suffered.

"Dave" Warden was well known at the University of British Columbia. He was an honor student in English and a prominent member of the editorial staff of the "Vancouver."

In 1926 he won the Arts '19 scholarship, an honor valued at $150, which is awarded for character as well as progress in studies. He graduated as a Bachelor of Arts with the class of 1927.

FLYING LION WEAK AFTER HARD JOURNEY

Airman Leads Search Party to Wreckage in Arizona Mountains

Roosevelt, Ariz., Sept. 22.—Martin Jensen yesterday led a searching party to the spot in the Arizona mountains where his monoplane crashed last Friday a few hours after the start of his attempted San Diego to New York non-stop flight. The party found the plane wrecked with little of it considered worth salvaging, and Leo, the lion passenger, in a weakened condition from lack of food and water.

Jensen's party made the trip to the site of the wreck from Kohl's Ranch, about nine miles from the scene and sixty miles from here. The lion, in its steel cage, will be transported on a sled to a point on the highway where it can be transferred to a truck for its return to Culver City, Cal.

THE CHURCH AND IMMIGRATION

OBSERVATIONS MADE BY DR. A. P.

Moore at the general synod of the Anglican Church at Kingston on the subject of the Dominion Government's policy of immigration have brought sharp rejoinders from Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, and Hon. P. C. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada in London, whose office was involved. Dr. Moore said that "no government which tolerated present immigration conditions were deserving of commendation." He also recalled an interview which he had had with Mr. Larkin in London at which the latter had said the trouble was not to get people to come to Canada, but to keep them out. He concluded by declaring that he had "come to doubt whether Canada House and its officials were adequately representing the country, and whether they were sympathetic with British ideals."

Mr. Forke has described the remarks of Dr. Moore as "a tissue of misrepresentation, politics, and intolerance." Mr. Larkin says Dr. Moore came to him with a proposal that he should tour Great Britain in the cause of immigration; but was told that he, the High Commissioner, had neither money nor authority to appoint him to such a position. Mr. Larkin admits that this part of Dr. Moore's story is true; but says the rest of it is "made out of whole cloth." Dr. Moore retorts that Mr. Larkin is in error when he says he was looking for a job with pay or expenses. There the matter stands at present. We fail to see any reason, however, why the statements of both Mr. Forke and Mr. Larkin should command any less respect than the statements which Dr. Moore has made.

If, on the contrary, Dr. Moore intended to convey the impression that both the Department of Immigration and Canada House in London are doing their best to discourage people to come to Canada from Great Britain, his observations obviously are a gross misrepresentation of the facts and unworthy of a man occupying such a distinguished position in the Church as he holds. What are the facts, facts available to Dr. Moore? As far back as 1924 Hon. James A. Robb, then Minister of Immigration, went to Great Britain to negotiate an agreement whereby this country could get more British families to settle on the land. It was known as the Three-Thousand-Family scheme. It has been an outstanding success, at least that is what special investigators from Great Britain have said several times recently, and it is quite likely that this policy will be extended. Then if Dr. Moore had studied the subject more closely than he seems to have done, he would have discovered that many agricultural training colleges have been established in Great Britain for the sole purpose of training young men for rural life in the Dominions. Canada already has received many of these promising settlers and mutual benefit has resulted. And if there had been any attempt to discourage immigration from Great Britain, what would have been the object of the arrangement between the two great Canadian railway companies and the Dominion Government by which selected settlers can be brought to Canada for ten dollars? This also has worked well, especially in the case of agricultural laborers and domestic servants. It went into operation at the beginning of 1926.

We may hazard a guess that what Mr. Larkin implied, if he did not say so in as many words, was that some of the people it may be difficult to restrain from coming to Canada, are people who might possibly become a public charge. In their case it obviously is a kindness to persuade them to stay in their native land. For it must be remembered that one million unemployed in Great Britain does not mean that the same one million would be employable in Canada. It is because of this, and because of other important considerations, that some sort of selective immigration is essential if this country is to obtain the best material.

THE "CARELESS PEDESTRIAN"

ONE OF OUR EASTERN CONTEMPORARIES recently read an editorial lecture to that element of society which it described as the "careless pedestrian." It instructed him in various ways, enumerated his various acts of carelessness, and generally told him that unless he could mend his street manners he ought to get off the earth. These were not the exact words employed; but they convey some idea of what was meant.

Motorists were highly delighted with the editorial admonition of the "careless pedestrian." Several enthusiasts wrote to the editor and congratulated him upon his "timely" chide. Here is a fair sample of the sort of letters that were sent to the paper:

All motorists will applaud your article about the carelessness of pedestrians. But it isn't any use protesting. The foot is never cured of his folly.

No doubt there are some motorists in Victoria who regard the pedestrian as something in the nature of a necessary evil; but, on the whole, our motoring public recognizes that the people who are obliged to get about on foot because they can not afford to buy a car have rights on the streets of our city. They take it for granted that the pedestrian takes as much care as he can and observes the laws which are made for his benefit as nearly as possible in his own interests. But the person on foot can not guarantee that he will always jump the right way when he hears the blast of a horn about a couple of yards behind him.

GETTING THE FLAG READY

WE ARE TOLD BY THE MORNING paper that one of the items of business which will be transacted by the Conservative Party of Canada at its convention in Winnipeg will be to emphasize again its whole-hearted support of the British connection.

This is an edifying assurance. But we should like to know just why The Colonist considers it necessary to tell us that a gathering of Conservatives can not meet without going on record as in favor of the maintenance of the British connection. Is it wondering what impression Mr. Meighen and other Conservative speakers during the last election campaign made upon the people of Canada when they advocated the abolition of the British Preference, a course, if followed out, obviously would have dealt the Old Country exporter a serious financial blow? Is it fearful lest Mr. Meighen's war-time election policy should convey the idea to the Canadian people that the British connection, as far as the Conservative Party is concerned, arouses no enthusiasm? For it should be remembered that the policy laid down as a cardinal plank in the Conservative platform at Hamilton never has been repudiated either by Mr. Guthrie or by any of the party leaders.

On the other hand, of course, the people of Canada do not require to be told where the Liberal Party stands on the matter of the British connection. It was the Liberal Party which gave the British Preference to Great Britain in 1897. It was the Conservative Party which reduced that Preference during the war, at a time when Britain's overseas trade was being shattered by the depredations of German submarines, when the British exporter needed all the business he could get. It was the Liberal Party which restored the original Preference and increased it afterwards.

Then we may recall what Mr. Baldwin, Great Britain's Conservative Premier, said at Toronto recently: "I defy any two statesmen to pull together better for the good of the Empire," he declared, "than Mr. Mackenzie King and I." He ought to know because he has had many dealings with the present Government at Ottawa.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FOOD PRODUCTION From The Toronto Star

The fear is expressed that in another hundred years the world will be so full of people that there will not be room for any more. This fear was one that used to be fanned by German professors to prove that war is a biological necessity. The same professors could, perhaps, prove the contrary now. The world has, probably, a capacity for food production that can not at present be even fairly guessed at.

HONORS AND BUILDERS From The Edmonton Journal

The other day a correspondent complained that, in honoring those who have played a conspicuous part in our history, men, and particularly women, who had made a large contribution to the upbuilding of a country without coming into the public eye, were being overlooked. One difficulty is that there are so many who have lived "lives obscurely great" that only a small proportion of them could be marked out for distinction. In Quebec, however, a start has been made in honoring citizens of this class. Silver medals are awarded those who have made a striking success of farming. For the first time one of these has just been granted to a woman. Her name is Madam Philippine Crotesau.

Forgive others often, yourself never.—Syms.

JOBS FROM GEOGRAPHY

GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE, in Palestine where Jesus was betrayed by Judas Iscariot, has been a Christian shrine since the Fourth Century. The Franciscan Brothers have guarded and protected the ancient garden in memory of the Massacre. The olive trees in the garden are centuries old; while their barks are knarled and twisted, the waxen green of the foliage softens the appearance of extreme age.

Canadian Questions and Answers

THE TELEPHONE IN CANADA

Q.—What is the extent of the telephone systems in Canada?
A.—No less than 1,144,095 telephones were in use in Canada at the end of 1926. In 2,495 systems, public owned and private. Canada is surpassed only by the United States, in the number of telephones per hundred of population, viz. 12.22 as against 14.2 in the United States. When it is remembered that the telephone is only fifty years old, commercially, this degree of growth is all the more remarkable, and is steadily increasing.

CHAMBER MOVES TO IMPROVE SHIPPING FACILITIES HERE

Recommendation of Committee to Press For Interesting Tracks Adopted

Committees Will Go Into Other Matters For Furthering Port Development

The recommendation of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which undertook the investigation of shipping facilities here, to the effect that the chamber directors approach the Board of Railway Commissioners with a view to having an interchanging track system built on the industrial reserve, was adopted by a specially summoned meeting of the directors themselves this morning.

Although J. O. Cameron, on behalf of lumbering interests here, said that the offer of George Stephens, traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a temporary expedient in place of interchanging track connections here was all that was required, ex-Alderman A. E. Todd's motion to adopt the recommendation was passed with but two dissenting votes.

The Board of Railway Commissioners will meet here on October 22. Meanwhile C. P. W. Schwenger, president of the chamber, has announced that a communication has been drafted which will be sent to Mr. Stephens, telling him that unless the C.P.R. agrees with the plan for interchanging tracks here, the Railway Commission will be approached for remedy. This communication, which will be wired to-night, was read to the directors this morning.

REG. POSSIBILITIES

Discussing the possibilities in extending local trade through up-Island points of consumption, the directors passed a resolution which will empower a committee to investigate plans for improvements in motor truck freight service to northern centres. At a recent conference of Victoria retailers and wholesalers with Cowichan Lake logging and commercial interests, such a policy was considered and passed upon as favorable. The committee to be formed will embrace retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers and an automobile expert, it is suggested.

DOCK PROBLEM

In order to discover what means should be adopted to bring greater volume of business to the Queen Point docks and what circumstances prevent ships using these piers, a committee will go into berthing and general harbor development matters immediately. This decision was reached on a motion by ex-Alderman Todd, who said that it was time such work was undertaken.

Regarding a drive for membership, it was decided to delay plans for such a campaign for a week.

No report on the recent Pacific Foreign Trade Conference held in this city will be made to the chamber directors until the whole details are prepared, it was decided. A report is in the process of preparation at present. Directors spoke of the great and extraordinary success of the conference.

SOCIAL PERSONAL WOMEN'S AFFAIRS CLUB NEWS

CATHEDRAL SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

Evening Ceremony Unites Miss Hilda Locke and Eric R. Frampton

One of the prettiest of the Autumn weddings was solemnized yesterday evening at 8.30, when in the presence of a large gathering of friends of the bride and groom, Rev. A. L. Nixon united in marriage Hilda May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Locke of Rithet Street, to Mr. Eric Roger Frampton, son of Mr. E. Frampton of Victoria.

The cathedral was beautifully decorated with a wealth of early Autumn flowers in pastel shades by friends of the bride. The chancel rail and arch were effective with Michaelmas daisies, chrysanthemums, dahlias and cosmos, the guests' pews with mauve and white asters and white tulip bulbs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a lovely gown of ivory chiffon tulle in period style, the uneven hem lined with shell pink georgette. Her only ornament was a rope of pearls. A lovely and charming bride, she formed her train was caught to the hair by a band of silver cloth and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, sweet peas and heather.

Miss Dorothy Locke, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in a charming French frock of coral georgette, headed in silver, with picture hat to match, trimmed with French flowers. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and fern. The dainty flower girl, Barbara Hutchings, looked sweet in coral tulle, ruffled and trimmed with French flowers, with hair bandeau to match. She carried a basket of cosmos, roses and carnations.

Mr. Jack Locke was best man and the ushers were Mr. Lionel Locke and Mr. De Bouché. The organist, Mr. Harold Davis, played the wedding march from Lohengrin. A largely attended reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, where Mrs. and Miss Trickle Locke assisted the bride and groom in receiving their guests. Mrs. Locke wore a handsome gown of golden sand and Fiench blue flat crepe with hat to match. Miss Locke wearing flame and silver shot tulle. In the dining-room where the wedding breakfast was served, the table was set with a three-tier wedding cake surmounted by a silver vase of roses and fern. The rooms were banked with dahlias, gladioli, asters and fern, with a belt of cosmos in mauve and white. The toast to the happy couple was proposed by Mr. E. Frampton, and to the bride and groom by Mr. A. L. Nixon.

After the meal, Mr. Frampton left for the mainland, the bride traveling in a smart costume of orchid flat crepe with a rose beige decollete and coat trimmed fur, with hat to match. The bride and groom were the recipients of a large number of beautiful and useful gifts.

The wedding took place in Vancouver at the residence of Miss Doris Kenny of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, and Mr. R. McDonald of Premier, late member of R.C.M.P. Rev. Father O'Connell, officiating. The bride, Miss Daphne Stanley, niece of Dr. Stanley of this city, attended the bride and Mr. Myles Foster of Vancouver. The groom, Mr. Eric R. Frampton, was accompanied by Mr. Myles Foster. The bride and groom were the recipients of a large number of beautiful and useful gifts.

An enjoyable card party was held in Lake Hill Community Centre on Monday evening under the auspices of the Women's Institute. There were thirteen tables in play and prizes won as follows: First table, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Wright, Mr. Lambeth, Mr. Campbell, second table, Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Miles, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Ferriman, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Calvert, Mr. White, Mr. Carlow, ten bid, Mr. Lester and Mr. Koochman. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. G. Gore, Mrs. J. C. Haldane, Mrs. M. Grute, Mrs. K. M. Anstie and Miss Lettice.

Contributing to the delightful musical programme were Mrs. M. Stewart, who played several solos, besides accompanying Mrs. T. R. Bowden in two lovely songs, "To a Hill Top" (Ralph Cole), and "A French Song" (R. Hahn); and L. Conyers, who sang "The Night" (Bohm), and Massenet's "Elegie."

Two clever recitations by Capt. Ralph Birrell were warmly applauded. Refreshments were served at the close of the programme under the direction of Mrs. John Harper, Mrs. W. B. Young and Miss Lettice.

In thanking those who had contributed to the pleasure of the evening, T. S. Gore, president of the society, announced that the annual exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts will be held in the Belmont Building from October 25 to 31.

The ladies' reception committee which assisted the Chamber of Commerce in entertaining the ladies who accompanied the Foreign Trades Council wishes to extend its very sincere thanks to all those who helped the committee in its duties. The ladies on this committee appreciated to the fullest extent the services of those who gave their time and the use of their cars; to those who contributed flowers and who helped with the decorations; and the hospitality extended to them. ## The Hygienic Method That 8 in 10 Better-Class Women Use

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND Registered Nurse

ONE of the commonest obstacles to the average woman's peace of mind was the old-time "sanitary pad." Uncertain and unsafe, it has now been supplanted with scientific protection that is absolute.

With the amazing absorbency of 16 times its own weight in moisture, KOTEX, the new way, is 5 times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad. It is the only sanitary pad filled with Cellucotton wadding, the world's super-absorbent.

Also it discards easily as tissue. No laundry, no disposal embarrassments. Obtain at any store, 12 in a box. Note particularly that the package is marked K O T E X. If not, don't accept — it is not genuine Kotex.

BILINGUAL SCHOOL PLAN MAY PASS IN ONTARIO SCHOOLS

Special Provision For Scholars in French-speaking Communities

Toronto, Sept. 22.—Endorsed by Premier Ferguson, the report of the special committee appointed in 1925 to inquire into conditions in the bilingual schools of Ontario was made public last night and its unanimous recommendations forecast the end of the much-discussed "regulation seventeen" under which French-speaking children in instruction in schools in French-speaking communities.

Chief among the proposals following the report is the recommendation that the government should end the bilingual plan and to restore the "historical classification"—public and separate schools. It is proposed that French-speaking children hereafter may be sent either public or separate schools with the appointment of special directors of French instruction and English instruction "to maintain personal contact with these schools."

In this connection, Premier Ferguson will announce the appointments in a few days. Permission to teach French will be continued "through authority," and the "language of instruction" in the schools will be at the discretion of the new directors, subject to law.

Some interesting information concerning conditions in these schools bearing the "English-French" classification is given in the report. It is the opinion of the committee, the main problem of which was to inquire into the efficiency of the instruction. They were examined from two standpoints—that of the proficiency of the pupils attending them and that of the proficiency of the teachers.

READING STANDARD LOW

So far as the efficiency of the pupils concerned, the committee found that in English reading in the various schools visited "in approximately thirty per cent of the schools the work is satisfactory and in seventy per cent unsatisfactory. For this very low standard as a whole the schools of Prescott and Russell, almost exclusively French-speaking communities, are largely responsible. In these communities the reading of at least ninety per cent of the pupils is below a reasonable standard."

ARTICULATION AND PRONUNCIATION

are inaccurate, expression is poor and understanding of what is read is meagre. A similar criticism may be made in regard to a large number of schools in Essex and Kent, in Ottawa, and in the districts where the English reading is quite the equal of the average English school of similar type."

ORAL ENGLISH

On the subject of "oral English," the committee found that in certain cases in districts where many of the French-speaking pupils have more or less contact with the English outside of school, and where the school instruction is made effective, the standard in oral English is quite creditable. In these communities are almost exclusively French-speaking the ability of the pupils in English on the whole is very low.

Quebec, Sept. 22.—Premier Taschereau this morning expressed his pleasure at the recommendation of the bilingual school commission of Ontario, and stated that should the recommendations be put into force and regulation seventeen repealed then it would be one of Premier Ferguson's greatest achievements.

BILINGUAL SCHOOL PLAN MAY PASS IN ONTARIO SCHOOLS

Special Provision For Scholars in French-speaking Communities

Toronto, Sept. 22.—Endorsed by Premier Ferguson, the report of the special committee appointed in 1925 to inquire into conditions in the bilingual schools of Ontario was made public last night and its unanimous recommendations forecast the end of the much-discussed "regulation seventeen" under which French-speaking children in instruction in schools in French-speaking communities.

Chief among the proposals following the report is the recommendation that the government should end the bilingual plan and to restore the "historical classification"—public and separate schools. It is proposed that French-speaking children hereafter may be sent either public or separate schools with the appointment of special directors of French instruction and English instruction "to maintain personal contact with these schools."

In this connection, Premier Ferguson will announce the appointments in a few days. Permission to teach French will be continued "through authority," and the "language of instruction" in the schools will be at the discretion of the new directors, subject to law.

Some interesting information concerning conditions in these schools bearing the "English-French" classification is given in the report. It is the opinion of the committee, the main problem of which was to inquire into the efficiency of the instruction. They were examined from two standpoints—that of the proficiency of the pupils attending them and that of the proficiency of the teachers.

READING STANDARD LOW

So far as the efficiency of the pupils concerned, the committee found that in English reading in the various schools visited "in approximately thirty per cent of the schools the work is satisfactory and in seventy per cent unsatisfactory. For this very low standard as a whole the schools of Prescott and Russell, almost exclusively French-speaking communities, are largely responsible. In these communities the reading of at least ninety per cent of the pupils is below a reasonable standard."

ARTICULATION AND PRONUNCIATION

are inaccurate, expression is poor and understanding of what is read is meagre. A similar criticism may be made in regard to a large number of schools in Essex and Kent, in Ottawa, and in the districts where the English reading is quite the equal of the average English school of similar type."

ORAL ENGLISH

On the subject of "oral English," the committee found that in certain cases in districts where many of the French-speaking pupils have more or less contact with the English outside of school, and where the school instruction is made effective, the standard in oral English is quite creditable. In these communities are almost exclusively French-speaking the ability of the pupils in English on the whole is very low.

Quebec, Sept. 22.—Premier Taschereau this morning expressed his pleasure at the recommendation of the bilingual school commission of Ontario, and stated that should the recommendations be put into force and regulation seventeen repealed then it would be one of Premier Ferguson's greatest achievements.

winning of the West and the hardships and trials that beset the settlers of those days. It faithfully depicts the resentment of the Indians, the political intrigues and climaxes in a thrilling and spectacular reproduction of a massacre.

Dustin Farnum is cast in a heroic role and acquits himself with ease. Anne Cornwall, as the heroine, again shows that she is a clever actress. Ward Crane is the "heavy" and, as usual, is smoothness personified. Kathleen Key makes an alluring camp. Eddie Oribon and Harry Todd provide many a laugh by their clever comedy work.

Gallagher plays the role of the coxswain of the college crew, of which Ben Lyon is made captain and stroke. Ford Sterling, Hugh Cameron, George Sidney and Claudette Colbert, featured in this season in "The Barker" are in the supporting cast.

Frank Capra, known for his Langdon comedies, directed. Robert Kane presents the piece.

"COEUR DE LEON" OUT
FROM HISTORY PAGES
TO PICTURE DRAMA

Vaudeville at the Coliseum Theatre this week opens with a little girl dancer, a pupil of Miss Mona Jewell. Next comes George Durham, in a singing and talking act that pleases all who see it. Following that is a sketch, entitled "In 1927," a tragic comedy of the future, with Harold Bechtel and Bobbie Stephens and Will Marshall. Close in the vaudeville performance is Eva Hart. Popular soprano singer, who is well known to Victoria theatregoers.

On the screen is "Richard, the Lion-Hearted." The title was chosen for the associated authors' screen version of Sir Walter Scott's famous novel, "The Talisman." An Allied Producers and Distributors Corporation release. The bluff and hearty monarch who is the outstanding figure in the celebrated Scott classic won such tremendous popularity through Wallace Beery's portrayal of him in "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" that the authors' title renamed their initial production for him.

"CAT AND CANARY"
MAKES ACTION FOR
CAPITOL PATRONS

Something new in the film rendition of a stage mystery play is offered in the presentation of "The Cat and the Canary," at the Capitol Theatre to-day.

Paul Lenz, whose first bid for public approbation was embodied in his bizarre production, "The War of Wicks," employs a refinement of the lighting technology which has lately been the vogue among camera craftsmen, following in the footsteps of the Continental school of directors.

It is not generally appreciated that a vast amount of technical experimentation preceded the development of mechanical aids to produce some of the remarkable sequences in the production.

To heighten the effect of the eerie scenes which the director has worked out, he has not neglected comedy-relief, utilizing three comedians who can be depended upon to carry out his comedy ideas to the full. They are Gertrude Astor, Flora Finch, who is making her debut on the Coast after years of comedy in the East, and Creighton Hale. Others in the cast are Forrest Stanley, Arthur Edmund Carey, Martha Mattox, George Siegmann, Lucien Littlefield, Joe Murphy and Billie Engle.

LON CHANEY IN
DRAMATIC ROLE
AT DOMINION

Lon Chaney is at the Dominion Theatre this week in "The Unknown." "The Unknown" brings back that combination, Lon Chaney as star and Tod Browning as director, the two responsible for "The Unholy Three."

"The Unknown" is a mystery story in which Chaney plays the stranger role in his entire career—a queer half-demon who hides his identity as leader of the underworld in the disguise of a seafaring freak, an armless wonder. Joan Crawford plays the girl in the picture. For her he makes a supreme sacrifice which marks the most original and audacious climax of the film.

At least one director begins his concerts at the announced hour. That one is Lieut. Commander John Philip Sousa, who this season makes his thirty-fifth annual tour at the head of his organization of one hundred bandmen and soloists.

For twelve years before he became director of his own organization, Sousa was director of the United States Marine Band. During that period he became schooled in the military theory that promptness is among the cardinal virtues, with the result that not more than once or twice a season does the exact minute upon which the concert is to begin fail to find Sousa on the conductor's stand.

"The way to begin a concert is to begin it," says Sousa. "Certainly one

WOMAN'S SIZE IN
HANDS OF BUTTS

Famous Colonel From Yonkers is Leading Character in "The Red Widow"

"The circumference of womanhood is within my power. One word from me and women either shrink or breathe easier."

Such is the declaration of Col. Clore Hannibal Butts of Yonkers, N.Y., president of the C.R.B. Corset Factory, who is to play a very important role in "The Red Widow," the musical comedy to be presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre on September 29 and 30 and October 1.

Col. Butts has some interesting experiences both in London, where he meets "The Red Widow," and in Russia, where he is apprehended by the police for aiding aliens to enter the country. Later he is brought face to face with Mrs. Butts and disowns her when he finds that she is firmly shackled. A lot of explanations are necessary before peace is restored in the family.

Those who attend "The Red Widow" will get a flock of laughs out of Col. Butts, which role is played by Art Kerr, who will be remembered as the great Dr. Budd in "The Beauty Shop," another musical comedy which the Gyro Club produced here. Mr. Kerr is better than ever as Col. Butts.

The show is being presented by the Gyro Club and promises to be the finest amateur show ever put on in Victoria. The cast has been hard at work for some time, and the director, C. H. Lewis, is greatly pleased with what has been accomplished.

AUSTRALIAN BAND
DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Brilliant Musicians at Crystal Garden Yesterday

A rousing welcome was given to the Australian National Band when it appeared at the Crystal Garden for two performances yesterday, before departing on the Aorangi last evening for the Antipodes. Last marked their third appearance in Victoria and yesterday's audiences were composed of many who enthusiastically endorsed the high opinions previously formed of these gifted bandmen from "down under."

The two programmes included the following numbers:

"Les Huguenots" (Mayer): two jazz numbers, "Forgive Me" and "So's Your Old Lady"; cornet solo, "O Sole Mio" and Schubert "Serenade"; "Reverie, My God, Thou"; songs, "Drake Goes West," "My Dear Soul," "Captain Mac," "Friend of Mine," "Company Sergeant-Major," "Tired, Haunted, From Somerset" and "Until," "In a Monastery Garden" (Kotely), and "Pippery Land," a collection of popular war-time selections.

"March Brilliant" (Lt. Ord Hume); overture, "Barber of Seville" (Rossini); cornet solo, "Lost Chord" (Sullivan); selection from "Don Quixote" (Meyerbeer); tone poem, "Labor and Love"; humorous, "McGregor's Wedding" (Campbell); cornet duet, "Ida and Dot" (Loosey); and Grand March, "Tannhauser."

By request the band concluded its afternoon programme with "Nearer My God to Thee," in which the brasses cleverly suggest the tones of an organ, and which proved such a popular number on the previous appearances of the band. Bandmaster Alfred H. Ball, the conductor, and his bandmen were given an ovation at the close of the evening performance.

At the meeting held last night the executive was authorized to appoint a permanent unemployment committee to handle unemployment among the members of the branch.

The meeting passed a vote of condolence to the relative of the late Clifford Harmer, killed recently in an automobile accident.

EYES AND EARS OF WORLD ON BIG FIGHT

Superlatives Used To Describe Ring Drama

Everything in Connection With Clash Between Tunney and Dempsey Is "Greatest In the History of the Ring"; Nothing Less Than a War Could Cause as Much Commotion as This Duel of Padded Mitts; Fans Will Take Over-coats, as the Weather Man Says Night Will Be Cool; Everything Is Ready

Chicago, Sept. 22.—For the brief space of thirty-nine minutes or less, Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, fighting for the heavyweight championship in a ten-round decision match at Soldier Field, will hold the eyes and ears of the sporting world.

For that short space of time, close to 150,000 pairs of eyes, paying upwards of $2,500,000 for the privilege, will focus upon the most expensive, the most talked-of and the most spectacular drama the ring has ever known. Millions all over the world will hear or read about the details of this gigantic spectacle, the greatest concentration of radio, telegraph and cable facilities in the history of communication for any single event.

SOME COMMOTION

To-day, as the time for the battle neared, as the rush of fans from all parts of the country reached its peak and as the last-minute hubbub increased, it seemed that nothing short of a great war could cause at one time as much commotion, as much debate and as great interest as this duel of padded mitts between a scholarly, scientific young champion of twenty-nine, and a two-fisted, rip-tearing slugger of thirty-two trying to batter his way back to the top of the pugilistic ladder.

Dempsey, on the crest of a wave of popular sentiment that attaches itself to so flaming a comeback, seemed destined to enter the ring a favorite, so far as the crowd was concerned, but the general consensus regarded the outcome as a tossup.

BETTING STADIES

Betting odds, steadying after a drift of several days toward Dempsey, were largely on a basis of even money and like your pick. The odds on a knockout favored Dempsey, conceded to be the hardest puncher of the two, but the majority of newspaper experts have given their choice of the newspaper and the odds on a knockout were even.

Such strong support for the challenger, in the face of ring history, that always has made champions pronounced favorites, was itself unprecedented, and it was only one of the record-breaking angles. Whether it was the size of the crowd, the amount of the gate receipts, the extent of the radio hookup, the immensity of the newspaper and press association operations, the number of assembled critics or the various financial arrangements—all surpassed anything in fight annals.

Tunney was assured an unprecedented purse of $1,000,000 regardless of whether he retains or loses his grip on the principle crown and the prize ring. Dempsey's odds $450,000 so a collection of ring earnings that already have run well over $2,000,000, to prove beyond a doubt that the Mansuetor was the greatest drawing card in boxing history.

WEATHER ALL RIGHT

The traditional weather luck of the man who pulls the strings to this epoch-making sports show, Tex Rickard, seemed as good as over in the predictability of clear weather. It was clearly felt that a cool evening was in prospect, however, which would cause the crowd to build up as it usually does for football games.

It will be a "highbrow" crowd that gathers for this up-to-date gladiatorial contest, guided by Tex Rickard, the showman who has raised his "ante" for the principals in twenty-one years from around $35,000 to a purse of $1,000,000. Boxing promotion scales its highest and most vivid peak in the country's biggest arena before a gathering of society, millionaire business leaders, occupying the choicest $40 seats.

More fandom, at large, will border the outer darkness of this notable spectacle cast, paying from $5 for a birdseye view, an eighth of a mile from the ring, to $40 for less favored sections of the "ring-side" area.

The principal actors in this biggest of boxing dramas, heavily guarded, were near the scene of combat early. Dempsey spent the night in a Chicago hotel, while Tunney was to arrive early in the morning to go into seclusion province, but it was the big-in ceremony early this afternoon. Dempsey was declared to be close to the savage, aggressive fighting machine of the days when he knocked out Willard, Carpenter and Firpo. Tunney, the master boxer, was pronounced more skilful, more confident and better equipped to defend his crown, despite a year of idleness, than when he bested Dempsey last September.

Dempsey's hopes of victory and a comeback to the heights he held for seven years were built on the rush, give-and-take fury of his attack. The champion's reliance was on his footwork, his counter-attacking effectiveness and resourcefulness.

TUNNEY'S EYE FACTOR

Tunney's right eye was a factor that concerned many of those betting on the fight. It was injured and cut twice a training. Under careful treatment it healed rapidly and completely, in outward appearance, but it may be subject to renewed and fateful damage. The selection of the judges and referee who will decide the issue remained a matter of speculation to-day.

The big battle was to start at approximately 9:45 p.m. Chicago Daylight time under last-minute agreement, but this was subject to change. In the event of threatening weather, Tex Rickard said it would be moved ahead of schedule. The preliminary bouts were to start at 8 p.m.

Vancouver Team Wins Desborough Cup in Fast Time

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Cecil West and Harry Lacternan this year carried off the Desborough Cup lifeliving championship, emblematic of the lifeliving championship of British Columbia, a massive silver cup valued at $600. Their time was 6 minutes 14 seconds, which is given as a Canadian record.

West will be selected to represent Canada in the coming Olympic Games, it is said. He is at present attending Stanford University, California.

Dempsey Greatest Knockout Artist In Pugilistic History

$33,333.33 A MINUTE FOR CHAMPION IF BOUT GOES LIMIT

The figures that showed Tunney, with a guarantee of $1,000,000, will receive $100,000 a round, or $33,333.33 a minute for his ten rounds of labor against Dempsey—if the bout goes the limit. At the $1 a day rate he received as a soldier during the nineteen months of service in the World War, he would be paid for only thirty minutes' work to-night.

WITH AID OF TREE NEW YORKER GETS A "ONER" AT COLWOOD

It's a long way from New York to Victoria when you have to make the journey to get a hole in one. But A. J. Hopkins, resident in Gotham five months every year by force of commercial interest and seven months in Victoria because he thinks it the finest spot on earth, did it, by hitting the seventh hole at the Colwood Golf Club yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hopkins was playing with Jack Matson, city champion, and Russell Kerr, no mean wielder of the history himself, when he performed the feat. But he insists that some explanation be given. His chest failed to expand as other chests have on similar occasions. There was no symmetrical flight, no perfect pitch, no to the wind, no thrill at seeing the little white sphere disappear into the cup.

There is a fir tree on the left of the rocky road to the hole, and it was this obstacle which got in the way of Mr. Hopkins's ball, really in the way, so he thought. As a matter of fact, nobody saw the ball drop and the conclusion was reached that it had ended itself in the ample branches of the fir. Another ball was played, the reservation having been made that if the first one was found, "It's a Dunder one."

It was thought that the incident had ended. But there was the little old "Dunder one" nestling at the bottom of the cup. Soon after the discovery had been made a meeting was held at the club house and the customary discussion took place.

Foresters Capture Softball Title By Victory Over Bays

By defeating the Hudson's Bay 8-7 the Foresters last night captured the championship of the "D" section of the Softball League. The lodge men scored eight runs in the first two innings and sewed up the game, although the Bays made a great effort to pull through with a victory. In the last of the seventh inning the Bays were within one run of tying the score with two men on bases, but the Foresters succeeded in retiring the side without a runner scoring.

Ernie Stock umpired. The teams were as follows: Foresters—C. Bowden 1b, D. Holman 2b, L. Rose 3b, S. Dunk 4b, J. Latham 5b, H. Holman 6b, J. Williams c, H. Doherty p, and F. Boden rf. Hudson's Bay—Hanson 1b, Alexander 2b, Shrimpton 3b, Sherratt 4b, Addie 5b, Bleasdale 6b, Campion 7b, Fie 8b, Gruger rf.

Everyone Is Busy Picking a Winner For Bout To-night

Jim Jeffries Thinks Dempsey Will Win, But Jack Britton Swings Other Way

"Green-horn" Just as Likely to Be Right as Much Touted Experts

Nearly every person in town is interested in the big fight at Chicago to-night and everyone has a leaning one way or the other. The majority of the fans here are pulling strongly for Dempsey to win. Although Dempsey was extremely unpopular a few years ago when his war record was revealed to the world, there has been a tremendous switch since his defeat by Tunney in Philadelphia last September. When he refused to use an exhibition and they were told that he was the best man won, he made scores of friends everywhere.

To-night he goes into the ring to meet the man who defeated him last year. Tunney, a much misunderstood fighter, has no popular appeal and as a result many fans underestimate his fighting ability.

The experts have set down their choices for to-night, but in the end they have no more success than the average man in the street. The experts all picked Sharkey to beat Dempsey. They were wrong. Then they picked Jack Delaney to polish off Jim McAdams and they were wrong. They could not see how Tunney could best Dempsey last year, but they were cock-eyed that time. So any man's choice is as good as an expert's.

Here are the choice of some people, who "should know."

JEFFRIES PICKS JACK
Chicago, Sept. 22.—James J. Jeffries, one-time heavyweight champion, who tried to come back and failed, thinks that Jack Dempsey will win the fight. He is as good as an expert.

PA PICKS SON
Chicago, Sept. 22.—Dempsey's father, Hiram, picked his famous son to win by a knockout within seven rounds. In condition, he said, his boy was the best fighter in the world.

WHAT EXPERTS SAY
Chicago, Sept. 22.—Tunney's supporters insist that the fighting machine that all but crushed the slugging Dempsey a year ago in the rain at Philadelphia is equipped to repeat, probably in more decisive fashion. Dempsey's backers see the old Kansas mauler as once more the aggressive, battering plunger; as the battler that knocked out Willard, Carpenter, Firpo and Sharkey, aggressive, if not quite as fast as of yore, but far from the floundering figure of 1926.

To the experts summing up rival pros and cons, it appears that Tunney has the decided edge in speed, boxing ability as well as three years in age and the confidence that comes to a champion. Dempsey, on the other hand, is conceded the more dangerous punch, a more aggressive attack and a flaming spirit of combat that is willing to risk everything. Tunney is cool, cautious and crafty. Dempsey, fiery and willing to take a barrage of blows in order to land his own punches. In gameness and stamina they seem well matched.

If Dempsey's punching powers can break through Tunney's clever defence, the old mauler may blast his way back to the championship, something that no other heavyweight has ever done. Corbett, Jeffries and Willard all have

NO TRICKERY OR BLUNDERS OVER FIGHT DECISION

Chicago, Sept. 22.—In the words of John R. Bepko, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, to guard against "blunders or trickery" the members of the boxing board will pass on the verdict of the two judges and the referee in the case of a disputed decision.

This action is aimed particularly at controlling the situation in case of a foul or other disputed ending. In the case of a foul, the commission's physician will examine an examination and all officials will be consulted before the verdict is reached. If the fight goes the limit, official announcers will collect the slips of the judges and referee and refer them to the commission before raising the hand of the winner or otherwise indicating the outcome.

Bill Peden Does 40 Miles An Hour And Thrills Folks

Victoria Rider Beats Jim Davies by Half-mile in Stanley Park Race

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—"Big Bill" Peden, Victoria, was the hero of the Vancouver Bicycle Club's annual fall day yesterday. He captured the Moody trophy for the race around Stanley Park, making a new record of 15:19 2-5 for the distance.

First off the line were Miss Ada Mackenzie of Canada and Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, waging another international fight. In the first four holes Miss Van Wie surprised by gaining a two up lead. A similar lead was won at the start by Mrs. Miriam Burns of Kansas City over Mrs. Harry Fraser of Los Angeles, Western champion.

Miss Maureen Orcutt and Miss Marie Jenny, Metropolitan stars, finished their first four holes all square.

Stan Jackson, Victoria, won the one-mile open handicap in 2:10 3-5, placed second in the eight-mile race, third in the novelty race and was just beaten across the line for second place in the race around the park by Davies. Davies, the champion, did not win a race.

Leo Marchiori won the club championship for A class riders.

BRITTON FOR GENE
Chicago, Sept. 22.—Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, regarded as the last word in the business of forecasting boxing results, picks Tunney to knock out Dempsey within eight rounds. He picked Tommy Gibbons to stay fifteen rounds with Dempsey; he picked Harry Greb to defeat Tommy Gibbons; and he picked Tunney to best Dempsey last year.

"I will not be surprised if Tunney scores a knockout any time after the second round," he says. "I am sure it will be over by the eighth, as Dempsey will be so badly battered by that time that the referee will stop it."

"Tunney is the best boxer the heavyweight division has seen since Jack Johnson. He is faster than Dempsey, and also stronger. Tunney is the most underrated champion we have ever had."

Alexa Fraser Beats British Champion In U.S. Women's Golf

Ottawa Golfer Scores Brilliant Triumph Over Mile de la Chaume

Ada MacKenzie of Toronto Also Put Out Strong American, Miss Van Wie

Garden City, N.Y., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, Ottawa, champion of the United States in 1916, 1919 and 1920, to-day eliminated Mile, Simone de la Chaume of France, champion of her own country and England, in the third round of the national women's golf championship tournament, three up and two to play. Mrs. Fraser won three up at the turn.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto, Canadian titleholder, came from behind to win the hole-in-one at the 18th hole.

First off the line were Miss Ada Mackenzie of Canada and Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, waging another international fight. In the first four holes Miss Van Wie surprised by gaining a two up lead. BARRETT OFF FOR HOME
Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Bert Barry, the English oarsman, who met defeat in his challenge match with Major Goodell, world's champion, on Burrard Inlet Labor Day, leaves for his home in England to-night at 6:30 o'clock.

Barry plans to return next March, accompanied by his brother, Lou, to prepare for a proposed match with Goodell May 24.

If In Toledo Form, Jack Will Easily Whip Gene

So Says Edgren, But He Is Not Sure if Dempsey Can Come to Within Eighty Per Cent of Form That Brought Him World's Heavyweight Championship Eight Years Ago; What Great Fight Dempsey and Fitzsimmons Would Have Put Up If They Had Ever Met

By ROBERT EDGREN

Jack Dempsey has been the greatest knockout artist in all the history of boxing. He has had only one rival among the heavyweights, and that was Bob Fitzsimmons. How Dempsey and Fitzsimmons would have come out, if they could have fought when in their prime, always will be an unsettled question. The difference in weight might not make much difference in such a fight. Ruby Robert was a much more scientific hitter. He studied timing and physiology, cause and effect, and took a keen delight in planning a knockout and executing it with absolute precision. Dempsey has lost some of his hitting power, but his knockout career resulted from a fierce hunger for fast fighting at close quarters, the gambling whirl of blows, tremendous speed, the caveman instinct to crush and destroy. Dempsey never held back punches except in two fights that I know of. He even felt a warning satisfaction in seeing husky sparring partners on the floor—a thing that never interested old Fitz at all.

RECKLESSLY DETERMINED

Speed and accuracy that goes with speed, combined with an unusual power his long, supple muscles could unleash, made Dempsey the great fighter he was in his prime. While he hasn't lost all of his old speed to-day, and having lost some of his speed has lost some of his hitting power, his ability to beat his man to the punch, he is still a very dangerous fighter, because he is above the average physically and is absolutely the gamest and most recklessly determined man in the ring.

Gameness and determination whipped Jack Sharkey. It enabled Dempsey last year to carry the fight with Gene Tunney through ten ferocious rounds, even when he was missing continually, and continually being hit.

DEMPSEY ALWAYS TRYING

It is the biggest factor in the coming fight with Tunney. If Dempsey wins he'll whip a better boxer and a man fully his equal in strength, and he'll do it because nothing can discourage him or make him give up trying. In this matter he's incomparably better than Tunney, who has often shown extreme caution in fights that went against him. The more a fight goes against Dempsey, the more he fights doggedly he fights. Some of Tunney's bouts, where he met strong opposition, have been plain fiascos. Instead of being stung to fury when he is hurt, Gene drops back to his running, circling evasion, with only occasional stabs to fight when he sees safe openings. Perhaps this is the right way to fight—the domination of the physical brute fighting impulse by a calculating mind. Perhaps, if Tunney hadn't circled and backed away and run around the ring part of the time at Philadelphia, he might not have become champion. And perhaps he would rather stay in there and maul it nothing but the outcome of the fight itself depended upon his efforts. But the fact remains that Dempsey's style has made him popular, and Tunney would have to show something more before he is recognized as a real great champion. Recklessness is spectacular. It gives the thrill, and what do people pay millions for, as a championship, but the thrill of seeing such a cataclysmic clash as Dempsey and Firpo produced four years ago.

A TWO-FISTED FIGHTER

Dempsey always was a tremendous hitter. He developed harder hitting with left hand as well as right, under Jack Kearns's coaching when Kearns first managed him. Kearns saw that Dempsey could win a championship if he would develop his natural speed and hitting power, and not try to box in the common way. The idea worked out. In one of Dempsey's early fights he met Gumbo Smith, then the hardest hitter in the world with the possible exception of Sam Langford. Smith nearly knocked Dempsey's head off by landing that terrific overhand right on his jaw in the first round. Jack came back to his corner "goofy," but recovered and rushed Smith recklessly, beating him badly in the four rounds. After he knocked the gunner out in a round.

THREE HITS FOR A K.O.

The Fulton knockout was a typical Dempsey feat. Fred Fulton was then a dangerous heavyweight, four inches taller than Dempsey, twenty pounds heavier, a great boxer with a tremendous reach. Fulton expected Dempsey to rush, but Jack stepped out from his corner and waited. Fulton advanced cautiously, and started with a light jab, immediately swaying in and seizing both of Dempsey's arms in a close clinch. Dempsey twisted his body around to free his left arm, and hooked an overhand at Fulton's jaw. The blow hit high on the right cheekbone and staggered Fulton to the ropes. Dempsey walked after him. Fulton dodged right and left and got away toward the middle of the ring. Dempsey walked after him, and suddenly lunged forward hit Fulton a left hook in the body—a clean blow, a blow as Fulton bent forward Dempsey clipped him on the chin with the left, and shot that right to his jaw. He knocked Fulton out with the left body hook, and hit him twice more before he could fall. Any of the three blows might have been a knockout. Fulton certainly was finished. He fell backward at full length, slid from the lower rope to lie flat on his back, and when the count was finished they carried him to his corner.

FINISHES OPPONENT

It is characteristic of Dempsey's speed and fighting instinct that he nearly always gets in at least one blow when his man is falling. He makes sure of that finish. He sunk Willard with a right under the heart and knocked him on his back with a left hook to the jaw while he was falling. He stunned Billy Miske with a hook on the chin and dropped him with a terrific smash in the ribs. Eighty thousand people saw Dempsey knock Jack Sharkey in July. He broke Sharkey down with a fierce right in the pit of the stomach and crunched him on the jaw with a left hook as he doubled forward. The referee could have counted a minute instead of ten seconds, and Sharkey would have been right there on the floor.

Dempsey punches from anywhere and has a punch for every opening. At New Orleans he knocked Carl Morris, a 220-pounder, out with the first punch in the first round. It was in the pit of the stomach and Morris fell on his face. When they lifted him up, completely paralyzed for the moment, his tongue was coated with rain dust, and he could not see his staring eyes.

Carpenter tried to bend over and cover his head with his crossed arms. Dempsey cracked him—a fair punch with the padded knuckles—on the back of the head behind the ear. Georges (Continued on Page 15)

RECORD ATTENDANCE

Chicago, Sept. 22.—More than 1,000,000 fans have passed through the turnstiles of the Cubs' baseball park here this season, establishing what the Chicago Club announced yesterday was a new National League season attendance record.

The best previous figure was about 970,000 at the Giants' Polo Grounds in New York several years ago. The record was passed here yesterday and the Cubs expect a total attendance of 1,200,000. The Cubs led the league last season with an attendance of about 900,000.

Giants Have Scant Chance of Beating Pirates Out of Flag

Must Make Clean Sweep of Series With Pittsburgh to Oust Present Leaders

Pirates Increased Lead Yesterday by Beating Brooklyn Yanks Terrible

New York, Sept. 22.—Pittsburgh defeated Brooklyn in the only game in the National League yesterday, 4-3. The victory sent Pittsburgh into the four-game series with the Giants with a lead of three and one-half games. New York's only chances for the National League pennant rests almost wholly upon the ability of the Giants to sweep the series. They play a double-header to-day with Pittsburgh. The St. Louis Cardinals' sweep of the series with Boston and New York breaking even with Pittsburgh, the Giants will find themselves in third place.

John Miljus, who was purchased in mid-season from Seattle of the Coast League by the Pittsburgh Pirates, yielded only five hits yesterday against the nine gathered off McWeeny of the Robins. The Pirates' attack was concentrated in the third inning when four singles and McWeeny's wildness allowed four runs to cross the plate. THE RALLY THAT WON

After one batter had been retired Gruntham singled and reached second safely when McWeeny made a bad throw on an attempted force-out on a grounder by Harris. Gooch drove Gruntham home with a single, putting Harris at second. Harris then romped over the plate on a wild pitch and Gooch went to third. Miljus struck out. Gooch scored as Lloyd Warner beat out a hit. The Pirates then stole second and after Barnhart was given a pass Paul Warner scored his brother with a single. Lloyd Warner made three singles to set a new major league record for one player in a season. He tied the old mark of 179 achieved by Johnny Tobin, with the Browns in 1921 during yesterday's game.

YANKES LOOKED BAD
The Yankees set out yesterday to tie the American League record for games won in a season. They have won 11 games in a row, but they are still behind the Pirates.

Sam Gibson held the Yanks to seven hits and had a shutout until the ninth inning. Then Babe Ruth connected the ball into the right bleachers. The Yanks won the contest 6-1. The Yankees made six errors.

Brooklyn has seven games to play and Ruth needs four more homers to equal his 1921 record.

Lizabee of Washington pitched one of those games he flashed often in early season play when he held the St. Louis Browns to five hits yesterday and shut them out 10-0.

A double by Hollings in the last of the ninth game the Boston Red Sox 3-2 win over Chicago.

After Cleveland had won the opening game of the series from Philadelphia 6-5, Ty Cobb left for a hunting trip into Wyoming. Cobb said he had not decided whether he would play another year of baseball.

Yesterday's results were as follows:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Brooklyn..... 2 R. H. E.
Pittsburgh..... 4 9 2
Batteries—McWeeny and Henline; Miljus and Gooch.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

C.N.R. ARRANGES TOUR FOR FARMERS

Agricultural Workers From All Over Canada Will Visit U.K. Next January

Opportunity is to be provided early next January, for from 100 to 200 Canadian farmers to go overseas for a study at close range of the great marketing centres of the Old Land, and a special study of co-operative marketing in Denmark, by the organization of a "Farmers' Marketing Tour" now being undertaken by the Canadian Department of the Canadian National Railways.

The marketing tour, conceived by Dr. W. J. Black, Director of Colonization, Agriculture and Natural Resources of the Canadian National Railways, is primarily a plan to advance the cause of wider markets for Canadian products and of better marketing methods, by giving the Canadian farmer opportunity for personal contact with the great marketing centres. The Old Country is the ultimate market for the Canadian farmer, and it is to the discriminating taste of this market that he must cater. An intimate understanding of what is desired by this market, and of the conditions under which Canadian products are handled, obviously would be of immense value to the farmer on this side of the water.

Plans for the tour are now sufficiently advanced at the Montreal headquarters of the Canadian National Railways, to give some indications of the wide scope of the tour and its particular attractiveness. The tour will be of some six-week duration, commencing in Halifax, January 8, and providing a full thirty days in Britain and Denmark, the cost of the tour being put so low as to be within reach of the farmer.

The tour is being designed to provide the following:

First—Methods of handling Canadian products in the great marketing centres of the Old Land.

Second—Opportunities for the extension of markets for our own products.

Third—What is demanded by the old world markets of packing and shipping.

Fourth—Great breeding establishments and historic herds.

Fifth—The most efficient co-operative marketing systems in the world.

An opportunity to see famous historic spots and sights of the Old Land, and to meet outstanding leaders in agriculture and other spheres of life.

Plans for the tour provide for landing at Liverpool, where a day will be spent in seeing the great Mersey docks and harbor facilities, grain elevators and grain exchange, cattle market, etc.

From Liverpool, the tour will proceed by a selected route through England and Scotland, visiting outstanding marketing centres and various livestock farms, with full opportunity for study of every possible angle of agriculture in general and marketing in particular. Considerable time will be spent in and around London with visits of such places as the Smithfield cattle market and the famous Covent Garden fruit and produce market, Billingsgate fish market, Harrod's, the King's farm at Windsor, Chiver's farm at Cambridge and so forth. At Glasgow, there are the Merikland wharves where live Canadian cattle are handled and sold by auction, either for slaughtering or for finishing on Old Country feed lots. Side trips to some of these feed lots may be taken. There are only a few of the points to be covered in the thirty-day tour, which will include a week spent in Denmark, viewing at close range various co-operative organizations and seeing interesting sights in this delightful land.

Full provision is to be made on the entire tour to take advantage of the light-seeing opportunities, visits to historic spots, etc.

AUSTRALIAN BAND SAILS ON AORANGI

Famous Musicians Return to Homes After Three Years of Touring

Motorship Sailed Last Night For Antipodes; Head of Line Is Passenger

Taking back to their native country the Australian National Band, the Canadian-Australasian line motorship Aorangi, Commander R. Crawford, sailed from Victoria last night for Honolulu, Fiji, Australia and New Zealand.

The band, which is conducted by Arthur Baile boarded the vessel after the conclusion of a farewell engagement at the Crystal Garden. During the last three years, this band, which was organized for the Wembley Exhibition, has travelled over 150,000 miles in England, Africa, New Zealand and Canada, and has been practically round the world three times.

Sir Charles Holdsworth, managing director of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, which operates the vessels Aorangi and Niagara to this port, was a homeward bound passenger. Sir Charles is returning after a brief trip to London, England, with Lady Holdsworth. The company is well satisfied with its Sydney-Victoria-Vancouver connection, he declared, with the introduction of the Aorangi, largest motorship on the Pacific, in January, 1926, they had established an efficient service in the Pacific, which is to be maintained for some time, and no immediate changes are contemplated.

The motorship took out 600 passengers. She also had over 3,000 tons of freight, including 7,000 crates of onions, 4,000 boxes of British Columbia apples, automobiles, newspaper, canned salmon and general freight.

AERIAL PATROL ENDS FOR YEAR

Major D. R. MacLaren Completes Season Flying Out of Prince Rupert

Completing the aerial patrol of the fishing grounds from a base at Prince Rupert, Major D. R. MacLaren, D.S.O., of the Pacific Air Force, is returning to Vancouver after over seventy flying hours in which 7,000 miles were covered in the protection of the fishery grounds.

Major MacLaren urges the use of larger aircraft, capable of carrying three or four men, and with a cruising speed of ninety miles an hour for flights of six to seven hours. Night flying also can be undertaken with advantage, he says, as aircraft with parachute flares are able to cover more ground than surface boats and do much the same type of work.

Assisting the pilot, who contracted with the Government for a patrol of the area for fishery purposes, were Harold Davenport, fitter, and W. Jacquot, rigger.

During the season Major MacLaren flew without event in the regular routine of his duties, save for one engine failure, and this was righted in short order. At Butedale the machine used developed trouble from a broken connecting rod, and the engine had to be replaced after a forced landing.

The use of aircraft in the co-ordination of the work of the fishery patrol service is proving a success, believes the pilot, who found many operators and all identified with the industry keenly alive to the improvement of control made possible by means of air patrol and transportation of the fishery inspectors.

Major MacLaren was formerly in command at the B.C. Air Station at Jericho Beach.

FIVE CARS OF SILK IN FRASER RIVER

Crews Work to Salvage Cars Hurled Off C.P.R. Track

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Two Canadian Pacific Railway wrecking crews have been working since Wednesday evening in an effort to salvage five cars loaded with raw silk, which were hurled into the Fraser River when ten cars of a Canadian Pacific Railway silk train were derailed two miles east of Yale about 2:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Telegraphic service east of Yale, which was interrupted when the cars derailed, was restored Wednesday evening.

Latest reports from the scene of the accident are to the effect that the five cars, carrying silk valued at $1,500,000 for the Eastern Canadian and United States markets, are still in the river, and railway authorities are unable to predict when they will be salvaged.

Although it is reported that immersion in the river will cause little damage to the silk, which is said to be the new product, advices from Yale indicate that at least one car in the river was smashed in its descent down the rocky bank, and its contents are floating down the Fraser.

The train was carrying a silk cargo unloaded from the O. S. K. line at Paris Maru at Vancouver Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. The entire cargo, which included various consignments of manufactured silk goods, was valued at approximately $6,500,000.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LYLE HAMILTON

"I don't hate you, my dear young woman. And I'm promoting your husband because I'm trying to save him from you." He gestured toward Brownell. "Do you realize that I came here largely to discuss business—and that you've done practically all the talking for Brownell family?" He smiled a little. "Do you realize that you did your best to promote a quarrel between your husband and his employer because you were insulted—you'd been asked not to take the kind of office employees in working hours? He pointed his forefinger at her. "I'll bet a hat you are handling every cent of your husband's money!"

Molly turned her head away. "What if I am?"

Brownell stirred as if to speak, but the older man silenced him with a quick, imperative gesture.

"Mrs. Brownell, for God's sake try to be a wife—not your husband's boss, nor a whining drag on him. He's the one whose success you want. If he wins, you win. But if you make him lose by setting yourself up as the director of his affairs, or by endless, peevish complaint you lose too."

He crossed the room, took his hat, and opened the door. "You start your new job first thing in the morning, Brownell," he said, his hand on the young man's shoulder. "Good night."

Molly remained on the couch until the door closed. Then she arose, trembling.

"Bob," she said, "I hate that man! She stamped her foot. "I hate him!"

Distressed, her husband ran his fingers through his hair. "It's kind of tough to hate a man who's just given us a couple of hundred-dollar wedding presents and a big promotion," he ventured.

"I don't care what he did. I despise his old gasoline books! I think he's contemptible!" She threw herself face downward on the couch, and continued, her voice muffled by her arms. "Always abusing me every time we talk! You'd think I was some horrible old vixen to hear him tell it. I hate him!"

Brownell did his best to calm her, but she threw his arm away as he laid it across her shoulders, and turned her back toward him.

For a long time the young man wandered disconsolately around the room, dropping a timid word now and then, to which his wife made no reply.

At last, however, she sat up. Brushing her disordered hair from her forehead she made an announcement.

"Bob," she said, "I know what I'm going to do. I'm going out and get me a job!"

CHAPTER XXXIV

Brownell sighed. "I wish you wouldn't, Mollykins. Why should you go to work just when I've had a promotion?" He came and sat beside her. "Is it because you're lonesome?"

"I'm lonesome, and I'm tired of being criticized," she let him take her hand, but did not return the pressure of his fingers.

"But I didn't criticize," he argued. "Old Fraser did, though. And I'm going to give back your precious money that he worries so much about and go and get some of my own. Here." She went to a cabinet that was built into the wall and drew out a little bank book. "There's the money, all of it."

He fingered the book that she thrust into his hand. "I can't get the money out of the bank with this," he said. "It's in your name."

"Well, I'll get it for you—and you can do as you please with it. Fraser thinks that men are so superior—"

The first office to which she went was occupied by two young men, with a table between them on which a dilapidated typewriter rested. One of the men, thin and sallow, ogled her with wide dark eyes and called her "girlie." He offered her twelve dollars a week. She retreated, but before she got through the door it was necessary to jerk her arm from his clutching fingers.

The next place was a large establishment, in which many girls clicked industriously at rows of typewriters and billing machines, under the superintendence of a severe woman. There had been two vacancies here. Both had been filled.

"It is necessary to come a little early," said the woman chief of the department, rather pointedly. "We start work at nine."

After a long wait, Molly arrived at a third office. This was a lawyer's. He asked her one question. "Married?"

She said him "yes," and he shook his head with finality.

"No married women. Good-day," said he.

Molly took lunch before she sought further. She ate a lettuce sandwich with a cup of tea—this order costing only fifteen cents—and wrinkled her brow over her problems as she munched the tiny triangle of garnished bread.

Though she had been a working girl for three years or more, this was her first experience in actually hunting a job. The principal of the stenographic school had found her first employment for her. The place in Mr. Fraser's office had practically fallen into her lap. Evidently there were difficulties in business life that she had not known about, before.

The afternoon was as fruitless as the morning. Three of the places she sought had been filled before noon. In three others a girl was needed who could keep a set of books as well as transcribe letters. One, which looked promising for a time, would require her to work from early afternoon until eight in the evening. The man who kept these unusual hours turned out to be a small manufacturer's representative, who did his own selling in the morning and his office work in the afternoons and nights.

Two of those to whom she applied were willing to take married women "if over forty."

Discouraged, Molly made her last visit to an employment agency. There, after filling out a blank and giving references—she included Mr. Fraser at the end of a brief mental struggle—she promised to pay a substantial part of her first month's salary as the price of a job, and drearily, took her way home.

Brownell was waiting, sitting in the roadster in front of the house. "Hello, honey," he called as she got off the street car and came to him. "Found, yeh-ye-ye-ye, so I parked myself outside—Hop in—we'll go some place to dinner."

"Bob, I'm too tired to go out. Can't we get a bite in our own kitchen? I'm all in!"

THE RULES

- 1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
- 2—You can change only one letter at a time.
- 3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump, slang words and abbreviations don't count.
- 4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

On the Blotter

Victoria police marksmen are preparing for the big competitive event of the Northwest of 1927 at Fort Lawton, Washington, September 25. The squad, lacking its crack shot, John Rogers, took a strong second in a ten-team battle on the range of Vancouver recently, and with Rogers back on the line, they consider themselves in a position to make an even more creditable showing when they fire at Fort Lawton.

Six Victorians are fighting for places on the five-man team which will represent the city on Sunday. Rogers' selection is a foregone conclusion, and Will Stark and Albert Wells are in line. Marcus Philippe is another certainty for the squad. It remains for T. Harvey Bamford and Walter "Dutch" Calwell, to prove themselves for a place.

There is a rattle and roar from the underground range at police headquarters every night. The revolver men are down there smashing holes in cardboard targets until the barrels of their guns are hot.

Langford, Sept. 22.—About forty people spent a delightful evening Wednesday at Langford Lakeside by kind permission of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. C. Bennett, the occasion being a community kitchen shower to Charles Norman Willard, who was married on Monday to Miss K. Bertha Leedam. The ballroom had been prettily decorated with masses of autumn flowers and foliage. J. Stuart Yates acted as chairman. A beautiful old-fashioned bouquet arranged by Mrs. George Eldridge was presented to the bride, while the miniature kewpie bride and bridegroom, decorated the piano were greatly admired. The musical programme was in the hands of Mrs. Horace Simpson and consisted of songs and community singing, led by Frank Smalley. Jack Ramsden made a hit with his humorous recitals, and Miss Doris Chandler delighted her listeners with pianoforte solos. An interesting competition, entitled the "Bridgroom's Romance," was won by Mrs. J. McTavish and Percy Welsh. The numerous gifts, testifying the high esteem the bridegroom is held in the neighborhood were drawn into the room in a prettily decorated wagon by Tiger Tim (Henry Bennett), who had to make several trips as over fifty presents were received of a most useful and various descriptions. Several of the parcels were accompanied by reginal verse, which was read out by the chairman. The bride pair thanked their many friends most heartily, after which refreshments were served. Dancing concluded the evening, the music being supplied by Miss Doris

Chandler and the Orthophonic. The visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lequesne, Mr. and Mrs. Tonkin, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. C. ### Keating

The Young People's Club of the South Saanich United Church met in the church for the regular meeting, with a large attendance of members and several visitors present. The president, Miss Christie MacNab, was in the chair. A challenge for a debate with the Young People's Club of the First Baptist Church in Victoria was accepted early in the year, and will be held next month. A report on the progress of the tennis court on the church grounds was given by Mr. Albert Hater.

The president announced that the annual rally day for Sunday schools and young people of the United Church, set for September 25, would be observed at South Saanich on Sunday, October 2, when the programme for the rally will be given by the young people. At the close of the business meeting the president called upon Rev. Mr. McNaughton, of Deep Cove, formerly of Saskatchewan, to address the members. The evening's speaker was arranged for by the religious conveners, Miss Deering and Rev. M. Lees. Mr. McNaughton chose as his subject, "Life's Challenge," which proved very interesting and was much appreciated by all present.

The meeting was adjourned and everyone repaired to the parlor of the church, where a social hour was spent. Miss Iola Lawrie, a bride-elect for October, being the guest of honor.

The tea table had been daintily decorated with pink crepe paper and mauve cosmos, and centred with a beautiful bride doll, by Misses Hazel Lamont and Violet McNally. Rev. Mr. Lees, on behalf of the members, presented Miss Lawrie with a beautiful china tea set, and expressed appreciation of her interest and loyal service as a member of the Young People's Club. Miss Lawrie thanked the members in a few well chosen words, and the evening concluded with the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

TUNNEY WINS

Tunney Gets Decision in Tenth

Dempsey Staggering at Close Made Gallant Effort to Regain Title, Dropping Tunney Twice

Tunney on Canvas for Count of Nine in Seventh Round and Went Down Again in Tenth; Last Round Decides One of Greatest Heavyweight Fights of All Time; Dempsey Drops His Hands in Tenth When Leading on Points; Tunney Clips Him on Chin and Has Him Groggy As Final Bell Sounded; Gate Receipts, $2,800.00.

Soldiers' Field, Chicago, Sept. 22.—They don't come back. That has often been said in the past and it held again to-night when Jack Dempsey failed to dislodge Gene Tunney from the pedestal, reserved for the heavyweight champion of the world. Dempsey tried to wreck a tradition which has come down from the old days of the heavyweight circle. He tried to come back and he failed.

Dempsey made a gallant effort to regain his old laurels and in the seventh round had Tunney down for the count of nine. The champion, however, showed the greatest courage under Dempsey's withering fire and came back to batter the challenger and win the decision at the end of the tenth round.

The fight was witnessed by 150,000 and they saw what proved to be one of the greatest heavyweight battles of all time.

FIGHT TIME AT START

The first two rounds were rather tame. Dempsey refused to take the lead and, as a result, there was not a great deal of action. In the third Dempsey came out of his shell and won the round but in the fourth Jack struck Tunney with what the latter thought were low blows. He complained to the referee and immediately launched the most savage attack he had shown in either of his bouts with Dempsey. Before the round ended Tunney had a wonderful opportunity to put Dempsey down for keeps but missed. He had Dempsey hanging on the ropes with left hooks and a tremendous right, which he followed with another left hook. Tunney nearly fell over himself trying to nail Dempsey and the bell killed a great opportunity.

Dempsey came out for the fifth round in fair shape as a result of the work of his seconds and he and Tunney traded a lot of hard punches.

The sixth round found both men landing several hard blows but there was not a great deal of action.

The seventh was a slashing affair with Dempsey all over Tunney. He put him down for the count of nine but did not finish him. Tunney showed great gameness and took a tremendous amount of punishment, finally grabbing Dempsey with both hands to save himself.

Tunney came back strongly in the eighth but after leading for a brief space Dempsey again clipped him with hard body blows. Tunney rallied once more and fought furiously.

Dempsey was the first to enter the ring, climbing through the ropes at 9.55. The crowd cheered rather weakly, taken by surprise. A host of public officials, including Governor Small of Illinois, the members of the Illinois State Boxing Commission, George F. Getz, theatrical promoter of the battle, and Tex Rickard, the man actually behind the huge spectacle, were being greeted by a crowd at the time.

Dempsey, apparently to the top-notch pitch, danced about the ring, nervously awaiting the champion. He shook hands with several of the writers in the nearby seats and spoke a word or two over the radio. When Jack spotted Gene Normie, his former mentor, he reached over and grasped his hand.

Dempsey was at 192½ pounds for the major effort of his colorful career. Tunney weighed 189½.

BOTH IN FINE SHAPE

Both were in perfect condition with Dempsey two pounds lighter than the night the former champion conquered Jack Sharkey in New York to inaugurate his comeback campaign.

A rousing ovation greeted Tunney, the champion, when he climbed through the ropes at 10 p.m. Dempsey immediately stopped dancing in fleck two soft lefts to Jack's face as the round ended.

ROUND 3

Again they boxed carefully, slowly in the centre of the ring. Dempsey apparently was trying to tantalize Tunney into leading and making an open fight of it. Tunney sneaked over a pretty left jab but took a half-dozens rap on the back of the neck. Gene took the offensive, driving Dempsey into the ropes, where Jack tied him up tight. As they hosed in the centre Tunney led and fell into Dempsey's straight right smash to the body. Gene held while Jack clouted both hands to the midsection. A right smash to the heart drove Tunney back. As they fled about Dempsey wove in close again and rapped the back of Tunney's head with his right.

ROUND 4

Dempsey took the offensive but Tunney's right cracked on his chin. Gene's left found the same mark. While Dempsey rapped two lefts to the body Gene complained that the blows were foul and fought Jack desperately as they fell against the ropes. Gene missed with a right and took another left to the body. Tunney was leading again now, short lefts to the body, while Tunney countered just as lightly to the head. Tunney trying to nail Jack coming in, missed with both hands, but saved himself by falling into a clinch. Two right smashes to the chin stung Dempsey. Gene lifted two more left hooks to the head and nailed Dempsey on the ropes. A right sent Dempsey reeling into the corner. A left hook nearly floored him. As Dempsey lay against the ropes, Gene used Tunney missed with both hands, and the bell killed his opportunity.

ROUND 5

Dempsey's handlers worked furiously on him during the intermission while Tunney's handlers yelled that the stimulants were unfair. Tunney missed a right and they fell into a clinch. Jack fell in close pounding to the body while Tunney, over-anxious, missed again. Jack backed away now, falling into the ropes as Tunney took the attack. When Jack tied him up they sparred out to the centre of the ring. Dempsey bobbed out of three left jabs. He sent Tunney's head back with a stiff straight left. A right high on the temple shook Dempsey badly. The champion backed away, however, content to jab and wait. In another clinch Jack rapped again on the back of Tunney's neck. Gene dug two nice lefts into Dempsey's body at the bell.

ROUND 1

Dempsey missed a left lunge, falling into a clinch. Jack piled in again with two left hooks to the ribs. In the clinch that followed he clipped Gene four times with a right on the back of the head. They sparred cautiously, Dempsey preferring to feint for openings while Tunney laid back. Gene snapped a left to Dempsey's chin and followed with a solid right smash to the chin. Jack fell into a clinch, taking another right to the head as he came in. Jack dropped a left on Tunney's body. Jack backed away while the champion followed him across the ring with a volley of lefts and rights to the head close to the ropes. Gene missed an overhead right as the bell sounded.

ROUND 2

Dempsey was fighting cautiously, apparently seeking to evade the disastrous first round spasm that at Philadelphia's last Fall ruined his chances to keep the title. They came out boxing again and Gene shot a left and right to the chin. They were dancing boxing high. Gene dropped an overhead right on Dempsey's chin after chasing him to a corner. Another right missed and Dempsey smashed a left to the body and three lefts to the chin before Tunney could tie him up. Hands high, Jack dodged away from a right. There was little action as they sparred carefully in the centre. Tunney's left was short but Dempsey merely fell into a clinch. Gene missed two more lefts while Jack clipped two short left hooks to the body as Dempsey lunged low. Tunney missed again but managed to catch himself and ney with left and right swings to the head. Gene, badly dazed, grabbed Dempsey with both hands and still was holding at the bell.

RETAINS CHAMPIONSHIP

ROUND 8

Dempsey came out in a crouch. Gene stabbed with his left and clinched. As Tunney back-pedalled furiously Dempsey made no effort to catch him, merely walking after him and taunting him to fight. Tunney did fight, whipping a left and right uppercut to Dempsey's head. As they missed rights Dempsey lifted his left to the jaw. In a clinch Jack again punched Tunney's head. A smashing left to the body drove Tunney back and a right to the heart made him reel. As Dempsey dodged a right he slipped to one knee for no count. Taking courage, Tunney flew at Dempsey, pumping both hands to the head. Again Tunney nailed Jack with both hands to the chin as the former champion bounded out of the ropes. They were boxing cautiously, both waiting for openings as the round ended.

ROUND 9

Tunney's retreating tactics draw soon from the crowd. Jack grabbed the champion and smashed him half a dozen times on the back of the head. They both had slowed up from the fierce pace. Tunney, standing in the centre of the ring, held Jack off for a few moments with three straight left jabs. But Jack bored right to close quarters. Coming in Gene's right opened a cut over Dempsey's right eye. The champion went after the wound fiercely. Snapping out both hands high to the head, Jack tried to bob with rights, but they bounced off his jaw. Dempsey was wobbly but as he coaxed his right Gene ran away. The champion came back, however, and rocked Jack again with swinging smashes to the head. Dempsey came to his corner a bit wobbly as the gong sounded.

ROUND 10

They shook hands in the centre of the ring. Jack floored Tunney again with a left and right to the chin.

Ticket Speculators Palm off Tickets at Reduced Prices to Avoid Heavy Losses

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY, Associated Press Sports Writer

Soldiers' Field, Chicago, Sept. 22.—Tex Rickard's dream of something approaching a $3,000,000 gate started coming true to-night when the fifty gates to Soldiers' Field were thrown open to admit the greatest prize-fight crowd in history for the world's heavyweight championship battle between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, his conqueror of a year ago.

As the shadows of dusk settled over the massive stadium, indications were that the attendance would reach 150,000 with receipts in excess of $2,500,000—a record-breaking figure in prize-fight finance.

Judging from the slow and orderly way in which the crowd started pouring into the stadium, it did not appear that Rickard's anticipated last-minute rush for tickets would be realized and that the gate would fall short of his $3,000,000 goal.

SLASH PRICES

Speculators and others holding large blocks of tickets started unloading them late in the afternoon, attempting to get rid of $40 pasteboards, the highest priced tickets for $20 or any amount they could get. The cheaper tickets, with box office value of $30, $25 and $20, also were being dumped on a slack market for prices much lower than their purchasers paid for them.

By 6.30 o'clock with the fight itself three hours away, 15,000 to 20,000 spectators were in the enclosure, strangely enough, the cheapest and most undesirable seats, the $5 ones, located at the extreme north rim of the arena, $15 rows from the ringside, were among the first occupied.

These early birds consumed hot dogs and gulped down bottles of pop to satisfy them for the dinner they missed. As soon as the gates were opened at 5 p.m. the crowd started popping through the turnstiles.

PLENTY OF POLICE

The stream of fight fans were guided to the gates by solid lines of police and ushers. There were in excess of 2,500 police, all in uniform, stationed at the fifty entrances.

Another crew of sentries, ticket inspectors and ushers directed the spectators to their wooden benches and chairs making up the 40,000 "ring-side" seats or the "permanent seats" in the horseshoe-shaped structure.

More than 5,500 ushers, police and other employees composed the crew that handled the crowd.

The ring was pitched on the fifty-yard line of the gridiron on which the army and navy eleven battled last November before 110,000 spectators, a record-breaking crowd for football attendance.

The ring floor, heavily padded and covered with canvas, was five feet above the ground and was on the level of the eyes of a man standing at the ring-side.

Four tall pillars, one at each corner, supported the superstructure of the ring.

Forty-four lights of 1,000 watts each, with silvered reflectors, hung suspended fifteen feet above the ring, flooding it with light.

LIGHTS TURNED ON

With the coming of darkness, huge floodlights shot their beams down on the spectators from great white columns on the east and west side of the stadium. The lights above the ring remained dark until the boxers climbed into the ring for the first preliminary round.

By 7.45 p.m. the stadium was filling up with amazing rapidity with the ushers guessing that between 90,000 to 100,000 persons were in their seats at that hour.

A haze of tobacco smoke hung over the place, adding to the difficulties of the boys in the rim-side seats to see what was going on in the ring.

VACANT SEATS

When the first preliminary started shortly after 8 o'clock, there were big patches of vacant seats in the concrete stands, but the ring-side seats were filled.

As the time for the main bout approached scarcely a vacant patch in the vast expanse was apparent, but the outlook from the ring-side was handicapped by haze. Only the shouts and rumblings emerged from the outer darkness.

THE CHURCH AND IMMIGRATION

OBSERVATIONS MADE BY DR. A. P.

Moore at the general synod of the Anglican Church at Kingston on the subject of the Dominion Government's policy of immigration have brought sharp rejoinders from Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, and Hon. P. C. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada in London, whose office was involved. Dr. Moore said that "no government which tolerated present immigration conditions were deserving of commendation." He also recalled an interview which he had had with Mr. Larkin in London at which the latter had said the trouble was not to get people to come to Canada, but to keep them out. He concluded by declaring that he had "come to doubt whether Canada House and its officials were adequately representing the country, and whether they were sympathetic with British ideals."

Mr. Forke has described the remarks of Dr. Moore as "a tissue of misrepresentation, politics, and intolerance." Mr. Larkin says Dr. Moore came to him with a proposal that he should tour Great Britain in the cause of immigration; but was told that he, the High Commissioner, had neither money nor authority to appoint him to such a position. Mr. Larkin admits that this part of Dr. Moore's story is true; but says the rest of it is "made out of whole cloth." Dr. Moore retorts that Mr. Larkin is in error when he says he was looking for a job with pay or expenses. There the matter stands at present. We fail to see any reason, however, why the statements of both Mr. Forke and Mr. Larkin should command any less respect than the statements which Dr. Moore has made.

If, on the contrary, Dr. Moore intended to convey the impression that both the Department of Immigration and Canada House in London are doing their best to discourage people to come to Canada from Great Britain, his observations obviously are a gross misrepresentation of the facts and unworthy of a man occupying such a distinguished position in the Church as he holds. What are the facts, facts available to Dr. Moore? As far back as 1924 Hon. James A. Robb, then Minister of Immigration, went to Great Britain to negotiate an agreement whereby this country could get more British families to settle on the land. It was known as the Three-Thousand-Family scheme. It has been an outstanding success, at least that is what special investigators from Great Britain have said several times recently, and it is quite likely that this policy will be extended. Then if Dr. Moore had studied the subject more closely than he seems to have done, he would have discovered that many agricultural training colleges have been established in Great Britain for the sole purpose of training young men for rural life in the Dominions. Canada already has received many of these promising settlers and mutual benefit has resulted. And if there had been any attempt to discourage immigration from Great Britain, what would have been the object of the arrangement between the two great Canadian railway companies and the Dominion Government by which selected settlers can be brought to Canada for ten dollars? This also has worked well, especially in the case of agricultural laborers and domestic servants. It went into operation at the beginning of 1926.

We may hazard a guess that what Mr. Larkin implied, if he did not say so in as many words, was that some of the people it may be difficult to restrain from coming to Canada, are people who might possibly become a public charge. In their case it obviously is a kindness to persuade them to stay in their native land. For it must be remembered that one million unemployed in Great Britain does not mean that the same one million would be employable in Canada. It is because of this, and because of other important considerations, that some sort of selective immigration is essential if this country is to obtain the best material.

THE "CARELESS PEDESTRIAN"

ONE OF OUR EASTERN CONTEMPORARIES recently read an editorial lecture to that element of society which it described as the "careless pedestrian." It instructed him in various ways, enumerated his various acts of carelessness, and generally told him that unless he could mend his street manners he ought to get off the earth. These were not the exact words employed; but they convey some idea of what was meant.

Motorists were highly delighted with the editorial admonition of the "careless pedestrian." Several enthusiasts wrote to the editor and congratulated him upon his "timely" chide. Here is a fair sample of the sort of letters that were sent to the paper:

All motorists will applaud your article about the carelessness of pedestrians. But it isn't any use protesting. The fool is never cured of his folly.

No doubt there are some motorists in Victoria who regard the pedestrian as something in the nature of a necessary evil; but, on the whole, our motoring public recognizes that the people who are obliged to get about on foot because they can not afford to buy a car have rights on the streets of our city. They take it for granted that the pedestrian takes as much care as he can and observes the laws which are made for his benefit as nearly as possible in his own interests. But the person on foot can not guarantee that he will always jump the right way when he hears the blast of a horn about a couple of yards behind him.

GETTING THE FLAG READY

WE ARE TOLD BY THE MORNING paper that one of the items of business which will be transacted by the Conservative Party of Canada at its convention in Winnipeg will be to emphasize again its whole-hearted support of the British connection.

This is an edifying assurance. But we should like to know just why The Colonist considers it necessary to tell us that a gathering of Conservatives can not meet without going on record as in favor of the maintenance of the British connection. Is it wondering what impression Mr. Meighen and other Conservative speakers during the last election campaign made upon the people of Canada when they advocated the abolition of the British Preference, a course, if followed out, obviously would have dealt the Old Country exporter a serious financial blow? Is it fearful lest Mr. Meighen's war-time election policy should convey the idea to the Canadian people that the British connection, as far as the Conservative Party is concerned, arouses no enthusiasm? For it should be remembered that the policy laid down as a cardinal plank in the Conservative platform at Hamilton never has been repudiated either by Mr. Guthrie or by any of the party leaders.

On the other hand, of course, the people of Canada do not require to be told where the Liberal Party stands on the matter of the British connection. It was the Liberal Party which gave the British Preference to Great Britain in 1897. It was the Conservative Party which reduced that Preference during the war, at a time when Britain's overseas trade was being shattered by the depredations of German submarines, when the British exporter needed all the business he could get. It was the Liberal Party which restored the original Preference and increased it afterwards.

Then we may recall what Mr. Baldwin, Great Britain's Conservative Premier, said at Toronto recently: "I defy any two statesmen to pull together better for the good of the Empire," he declared, "than Mr. Mackenzie King and I." He ought to know because he has had many dealings with the present Government at Ottawa.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FOOD PRODUCTION

From The Toronto Star

The fear is expressed that in another hundred years the world will be so full of people that there will not be room for any more. This fear was one that used to be fanned by German professors to prove that war is a biological necessity. The same professors could, perhaps, prove the contrary now. The world has, probably, a capacity for food production that can not at present be even fairly guessed at.

HONORS AND BUILDERS

From The Edmonton Journal

The other day a correspondent complained that, in honoring those who have played a conspicuous part in our history, men, and particularly women, who had made a large contribution to the upbuilding of a country without coming into the public eye, were being overlooked. One difficulty is that there are so many who have lived "lives obscurely great" that only a small proportion of them could be marked out for distinction. In Quebec, however, a start has been made in honoring citizens of this class. Silver medals are awarded those who have made a striking success of farming. For the first time one of these has just been granted to a woman. Her name is Madam Philippine Croteau.

GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE, in Palestine, where Jesus was betrayed by Judas Iscariot, has been a Christian shrine since the Fourth Century. The Franciscan Brothers have guarded and protected the ancient garden in memory of the Nazarene. The olive trees in the garden are centuries old; while their boughs are loaded and twisted, the warm green of the foliage softens the appearance of autumn.

THE TELEPHONE IN CANADA

Q.—What is the extent of the telephone systems in Canada?
A.—No less than 1,144,000 telephones were in use in Canada at the end of 1926. In 2,485 systems, public, owned and private. Canada is surpassed only by the United States, in the number of telephones per hundred of population, viz. 12.2 as against 14.2 in the United States. When it is remembered that the telephone is only fifty years old; commercially, this degree of growth is all the more remarkable, and is steadily increasing.

CHAMBER MOVES TO IMPROVE SHIPPING FACILITIES HERE

Recommendation of Committee to Press For Interesting Tracks Adopted

Committees Will Go Into Other Matters For Furthering Port Development

The recommendation of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which undertook the investigation of shipping facilities here, to the effect that the chamber directors approach the Board of Railway Commissioners with a view to having an interchanging track system built on the industrial reserve, was adopted by a special meeting of the directors this morning.

Although J. O. Cameron, on behalf of lumbering interests here, said that the offer of George Stephens, traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for a temporary expedient in place of interchanging track connections here was all that was required, ex-Alderman A. E. Todd's motion to adopt the recommendation was passed with but two dissenting votes.

The Board of Railway Commissioners will meet here on October 22. Meanwhile C. P. W. Schwenger, president of the chamber, has announced that a communication has been drafted which will be sent to Mr. Stephens, telling him that unless the C.P.R. agrees with the plan for interchanging tracks here, the Railway Commission will be approached for remedy. This communication, which will be wired to-night, was read to the directors this morning.

REG. POSSIBILITIES

Discussing the possibilities in extending local trade through up-land points of consumption, the directors passed a resolution which will empower a committee to investigate plans for improvement of existing truck freight service to northern centres. At a recent conference of Victoria retailers and wholesalers with Cowichan Lake logging and commercial interests, such a policy was considered and passed upon as favorable. The committee to be formed will embrace retail-

This decision was reached on a motion by ex-Alderman Todd, who said that it was time such work was undertaken.

Regarding a drive for membership, it was decided to delay plans for such a campaign for a week.

Skinny, "Lifeless" Women Gain Weight

If we could only show you the wonders that Ironized Yeast has done for thousands of men and women. The best health-giver and body builder given to the world. It makes you feel good, it makes you look good. It makes you feel like a new man or woman. It makes you feel like a new man or woman. It makes you feel like a new man or woman.

How Yeast and Iron Build Quick Weight
Ironized Yeast is two combs in one—weight-building Yeast and strength-giving Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, cultured to give the utmost in health-producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron, the same as in spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and making you feel good.

When Yeast is ironized in this way it is made effective for iron. It is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this special formula, Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

Go to your druggist and get a handy bottle of our Yeast tablets today. Just a single course of treatment will prove that you can be attractive and healthy. Safe for everybody. They do not upset the stomach nor cause gas or bloating.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Just ask your druggist for a full size treatment. If you are not delighted with the quick results, get your money back. No questions asked. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.25 to the IRONIZED-YEAST CO., Fort Erie, Ontario.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a general feeling of physical and mental exhaustion, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who objects to having weak blood.

corns

on nerve removed without pain
Read this grateful letter:
"I write to thank you on behalf of my wife, Radox, Bath Salts, who has ended her corns. The chiropodist said one on the small toe was the cause of all her trouble. He tried various treatments, besides the pain of probing and acids, etc., but Radox removed the corns painlessly."
—E.P.

When you dip your feet into a foot-bath containing Radox Bath Salts, the dead skin of the corn combines with the Radox Salts to form a protein salt of the actual corn itself. This protein salt dissolves in the water, and so softens the corn that after a few baths it may be lifted out bodily. Radox does not affect the living skin, but dissolves the corn.

At your druggist's.

VICTORIA W.I. TO GIVE DONATION TO HOME ECONOMICS

The September meeting of the members of Victoria Women's Institute was held at the institute rooms on Friday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. E. Palmer, in the chair.

Miss Kate Stevens of London, England, gave a most interesting address on customs and life in tropical Africa, where she has spent some time and also spoke of some phases of her educational work. At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. Stevens was presented with a large bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums which, with their green foliage, represent the colors of the B.C. Women's Institutes. It was decided that V.W.I. did not deem it desirable or financially practical to hold a district conference until next year in response to the roll call the members gave the name of their favorite authors.

A report of the institute exhibit at the Victoria Fall Fair was given by Mrs. Palmer. The prize books donated by the Department of Agriculture were presented by Mesdames Taylor, Schmeis, Adam, Olson and Rowboth, whose sections in the exhibit gained the highest points. Mrs. Palmer was presented with a beautiful flowering plant as a slight token of appreciation of the work done by her.

The members decided to hold a bazaar and afternoon tea on Saturday, October 7, when many interesting and instructive demonstrations will be shown also. Mrs. Taylor undertook to be general convener, with Mrs. Palmer to serve tea. Mrs. Laird, home cooking stall, and Mrs. Peden, demonstrations. A visit to the B.C. Women's Institute membership has been planned for some time, and Wednesday, September 28, is set for this, leaving the city at 1:30 p.m. by railway. The sum of $10 was voted to be sent to the home economics club fund at the University of British Columbia.

Fly-Tox Helps Reduce Infant Mortality

Every year in the United States 350,000 children under five years of age die. Health authorities say it is significant that more deaths occur during the time flies are most active. Flies transmit more than thirty different diseases. Every fly should be killed. Fly-Tox kills flies. It is fragrant, and stainless, sure. (Adv.)

Provincial W.C.T.U. Told Government Control "Cloak of Respectability"

New Westminster, Sept. 22.—There is a greater need of temperance work to-day than ever before, said Mrs. J. A. Gillespie, president of the Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union, in her address on Wednesday evening at the forty-fourth annual convention of the Provincial branch, which is being held in the Olivet Baptist Church. "As temperance women, we need a broader vision, a stronger determination and we must move forward," she said in outlining the work of the W.C.T.U.

CLOAK OF RESPECTABILITY
"We have in our Province," she went on, "throughout the year, administration, placed a cloak of respectability around the use of alcohol as a beverage, which will, not only deprive us of the benefit of many young people."

Mrs. Gillespie told the gathering of a town in British Columbia with two assisted teachers and a population of approximately 300 which showed in the fiscal year of 1923-24 receipts from its liquor store to be $43,129. Twenty-five per cent of this amount would have been paid, she said, the salaries of all the teachers engaged in the dozen assisted schools visited by the commission. The total liquor sale in 1923-24 in the Province amounted to $11,663,797. The total cost of education grants and taxation for all assisted schools was $9,199,696.

"We must harness up as a team, and by education and legislation bring about prohibition, backed up by public sentiment, which will ensure law enforcement and victory over the liquor traffic."

VICTORIA HOME
The work during the past year of the Provincial W.C.T.U. home in Victoria, established thirty-eight years ago, had been very satisfactory in every respect under the management of Mrs. James McEwen, Mrs. A. E. Mitchell assisted, in presenting the report of the home on behalf of the board of management. Eighteen girls passed through the home during the year, and it was quite capable of caring for more. "It is a Provincial home, and we earnestly plead with our members to be on the lookout for girls who have been unfortunate, and try to send them to the home where they will have kind care and a chance to begin again," said Mrs. Mitchell, in an outline of work accomplished for these girls.

UNMARRIED MOTHERS
At the afternoon session, Miss Laura Holland of the Children's Aid Society gave a short address on the problem of the "unmarried mother," and showed how it links up with the work of the Children's Aid Society.

Rev. R. J. McIntyre, organizer for the British Columbia Prohibition Association, gave an address at the Wednesday evening session.

Mrs. A. Cantell was also a speaker at the afternoon session, giving a lecture "Grasses to Wine," illustrating the method of teaching temperance to juniors.

Other officers elected at the afternoon session were: Recording secretary, Mrs. T. H. Wright; Gibson's Landing; treasurer, Mrs. C. Yapp; Burnaby; and Mrs. W. A. Williscroft, "Y" secretary.

DELEGATES WELCOMED
At Tuesday noon the delegates were entertained at a luncheon in the church parlor by the New Westminster W.C.T.U. Addresses of welcome were given by Mrs. T. Timlock, president of the local union; Rev. W. J. Mark, president of the New Westminster Ministerial Association; Mr. D. S. Curtis, on behalf of the New Westminster Prohibition Association; Mr. D. J. Welsh for the Olivet Baptist Church, and Mrs. William Hardie on behalf of the Local Council of Women.

Prior to the departmental report, committees were appointed as follows: Resolutions, Mrs. T. B. Manuel, Vancouver; Mrs. Campbell, Kamloops; Mrs. Brett and Mrs. Fielder, Ladner; Mrs. W. Wilson, New Westminster; Mrs. Webb, Gardiner; Mrs. E. Boole, Nanaimo; Mrs. A. Cantell, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. T. McPhle and Mrs. James Bryan, Vancouver; Mrs. Mallott, Chilliwack, and Mrs. R. Armstrong, South Vancouver. Plan of work, Miss Lena Grant, coonier, assisted by Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. J. Hope, Mrs. T. E. Hopkins, Mrs. Green, Mrs. G. Lovatt, Mrs. McAdam, Mrs. T. Hardy, Mrs. T. H. Wright, Mrs. Allan of Nanaimo, Mrs. Laidlaw, Mrs. J. Laidlaw, Mrs. C. Williscroft, Mrs. Wilson of Nanaimo, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. T. Knight and Mrs. S. Chaplin, Cranston. Mrs. T. Yapp, Mrs. Laing and Mrs. Young, Budget, Mrs. C. T. Yapp, Mrs. R. Timlock and Mrs. Lanning, Courtesy, Mrs. C. Williscroft, Mrs. C. Hay and Mrs. A. Cantell. The delegates were welcomed by Mrs. Gillespie, and the departmental reports were presented by the convener.

OFFICERS CHOSEN
Mrs. Gillespie was re-elected president of the Provincial W.C.T.U. here. Others chosen were: Honorary presidents, Mrs. M. A. Cunningham, New Westminster, and Mrs. David Spencer, Victoria; vice-presidents, Mrs. M. M. Allan of Nanaimo and Mrs. John Hall, Victoria; corresponding secretary, Mrs. O. M. Lanning of Victoria.

METROPOLITAN CHOR ENTERTAIN PATIENTS

The patients of the T.B. ward were entertained at a delightful concert on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Victoria Women's Institute. The members of the Metropolitan Church choir attended in large numbers, and the following were the numbers given: "A Song of Praise," by choir; soprano solo, Mr. Holmes; solo, Mrs. Morton; part song, "How Sweet the Moonlight," tenor solo, Mr. Nan-carrow; solo, Miss Humphries; ladies' chorus, (1) "The Witches Stead" (2) "The Shepherdess"; solo, Mrs. A. Jones; solo, Mrs. Lefevre; piano solo, Miss Morton; anthem, "Hail to the Lord's Anointed"; "God Save the King." A hearty vote of thanks was given the ladies and gentlemen for the pleasant evening, after which the following ladies of the V.W.I. served refreshments: Mesdames Laird, Terry, Urquhart, McIntyre, Wilkinson, Brown and Quest.

If these airmen were on schedule they were to-day in the Rocky Mountain territory. Their trail was 400 miles longer than the ocean jump of Lindbergh, Chamberlain and Byrd, and has surpassed the number from the Dole transatlantic fliers.

TWO FLIERS MISSING

Felts Field, Spokane, Sept. 22.—Two fliers in the Class "B" New York-Spokane air derby and three in class "C," San Francisco-Spokane, were unaccounted for at National Air Derby Association headquarters here to-day.

A. M. Banks, of Philadelphia, in a Pittman Pteerling plane, was last reported out of Chicago at 11:47 a.m. yesterday.

R. E. Daker, of Pittsburgh, in a Waco, left Glendive, Mont., at 3:57 p.m. yesterday at last report.

LANGDON WINS COAST DERBY

STILL TEACH FRENCH

In this connection, Premier Ferguson will announce the appointments in a few days. Permission to teach French in the public schools is now under the authority, and the "language of instruction" in the schools will be at the discretion of the new directors, subject to the approval of the board.

READING STANDARD LOW

So far as the efficiency of the pupils are concerned, the committee found that in English reading in the various schools visited "in approximately thirty per cent of the schools the work is satisfactory and in seventy per cent unsatisfactory. For this very low standard as a whole the schools of Prescott and Russell, almost exclusively French-speaking communities, are largely responsible. In these communities the reading of at least ninety per cent of the pupils is below a reasonable standard."

ORAL ENGLISH

On the subject of "oral English," the committee found that in certain centres in districts where many of the French-speaking pupils have more or less contact with the English outside of school, and where the school instruction is made effective, the standard in oral English is quite creditable. Where many communities are almost exclusively French-speaking the ability of the pupils in English on the whole is very low.

Quebec, Sept. 22.—Premier Taschereau this morning expressed his pleasure at the recommendation of the bilingual school commission of Ontario and stated that should the recommendations be put into force and regulation seventeen repeated then it would be one of Premier Ferguson's greatest achievements.

MORE REASONS FOR RAIL JUDGMENT ARE HANDED DOWN

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—Reasons for judgment in the general freight rates case given by the Board of Railway Commissioners, as published yesterday, is supplemented to-day.

Commissioner Lawrence concurs in the judgment of the commissioners on the following questions: (a) transcontinental rate scale; (b) terminal tariffs; (c) different standard mileages; and (d) domestic grain rates to British Columbia.

Commissioner Oliver, in dealing with rates eastbound on grain and flour from the prairies to Lake Superior points, concludes:

"Under all these circumstances I am of opinion that an order of the board should issue requiring the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian National Railway and the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway to file, within a stated time, for the consideration of the board, tentative rate schedules applying to all their lines under the jurisdiction of Parliament with maxima conforming to the standard now in force on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Winnipeg and Calgary, but with that distance divided in twenty-four groups of approximately equal mileage and having an increase of half a cent from group to group westward from Winnipeg.

"Such tentative schedules to be amended as the board may consider necessary to give effect to the terms of the act of 1923; and thereafter to be declared effective at such time and under such circumstances as may be decided by the board."

On the matter of rates westbound from the prairies to Pacific ports, Commissioner Oliver states, with the opinion that action should be taken to bring about results as follows:

"(1)—That the Canadian Pacific Railway be required to file, within a stated time, for the consideration of the board of September 2, 1923, by reducing the export rate on grain and flour from prairie points on their main line to Vancouver, the per mile rate now in force from prairie points on their main line to Port William.

"Also that, in pursuance of an order of the board, changes are made in their export rates on grain and flour from prairie points to Port William on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, the same per mile rates as to such points as are now in force from prairie points to Vancouver, that the rates from the same points on grain and flour for export.

"(2)—That the Canadian National Railway be notified that when any changes are made in the per mile export rate on grain and flour from prairie points to Port William, the same per mile rates as to such points as are now in force from prairie points to Vancouver, that the rates from the same points on grain and flour for export.

"(3)—That the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways be notified to amend their class rates applicable in the region between Port Mores and Edson on the east and Vancouver on the west to the level of actual mileage.

"(4)—That the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways be notified that rates on grain and flour for domestic use shall not be more than 3 cents per 100 pounds higher from prairie points to Vancouver than the rates from the same points on grain and flour for export.

THOMAS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL TO-DAY

Alleged Automobile Thief Faces Charge of Theft of Year Ago

John Thomas, charged with the theft of an automobile owned by John A. Rithet, was committed to-day for trial by Magistrate Jay in the city police court. C. L. Harrison prosecuted. Earlier in proceedings, when W. C. Moresby first appeared for the defendant, Thomas elected trial by a higher court. All defence was consequently reserved for to-morrow.

Detective Phillips told of having gone in search of a stolen car on the night of October 16, 1926, in response to a communication received from the headquarters. He was accompanied by Detective William Stark, he said. They chased an automobile along Quadra Street, in which a young man was driving, and eventually, after a long race, found the car deserted in Beacon Hill Park, and backed into a tree, slightly damaged.

In conversation, witness for the Crown, told of seeing Thomas in a strange car on the night in question. He could not be sure what make of machine it was, he said, but thought it corresponded to that which Mr. Rithet had reported stolen from outside the Union Club. Hibbert told of having a conversation with Thomas, and later of having sighted the detectives' car. He drove past Thomas, he said, and called a warning to him. "What did you say?" asked Mr. Harrison.

"I said something like: 'For sake, Thomas. The dicks are after you,' " witness said.

On the Sunday following he had spoken again with Thomas, witness continued, and had seen an automobile which he thought was the one Thomas was driving, the night previous. It was slightly damaged. He wondered at the time how this damage had occurred.

In conversation, said witness, Thomas had told him that he was driving a car in which the keys had been left for him.

Under cross-examination, witness said he had given a written statement to police.

"Did they hold out any threat or inducement to you to get this story?" asked Mr. Moresby.

"They said one or two things that I didn't feel very comfortable about," witness replied.

He said he had heard indirectly that the father of the accused was going to sue him, and make him prove his word, and that he was nervous about testifying in court, but that detectives had reassured him. Mr. Moresby did not question witness further.

made by the flames. Five minutes after the alarm had been sounded the entire interior of the building was a roaring furnace.

The fire is believed to have originated from the furnace in the basement. When one of the sisters was aroused by the cracking of burning timbers, she found that the stairway leading to one of the main boy dormitories was ablaze.

SCREAMING CHILDREN

A general alarm was immediately sounded and frantic efforts made by the adult members of the mission to herd the children to safety.

HEROIC GIRLS

In the other section of the building the girls fled out doors in orderly fashion. The girls saved their younger companions carried them to safety. Courages who brought news of the fire were high in their praise of the heroic rescue work of the sisters and who repeated with admiration the blazing structure to save others at the risk of their own lives.

Father Gagnon, one of the brothers of the mission, fought his way through clouds of smoke in a desperate attempt to reach the upper floor. He was forced back by the terrific heat and lapsed into unconsciousness before he reached the doorway. He was later revived.

Without adequate facilities to check the progress of the fire, the fathers tried to reach the upper floor by means of a ladder made of ropes and ladders, but in a mass of ruins within an hour after the outbreak.

Constable Kock of the Saskatchewan provincial police, and Dr. McCormick of Meadow Lake, are on their way to the scene of the disaster from North Battleford, travelling by canoe a distance of five miles. They are expected to reach Beauval on Saturday, when an official investigation will be made.

OF INDIAN DESCENT

The boys who lost their lives are all believed to have been of Indian descent.

The dead: Sister Lea, a teacher at the mission; Thomas Alcrow, 16; La Croix; Moise Lariviere, Beauval; Antonius Du-rocher, Beauval; Ernest Bishop, Green Lake; Freddy Bishop, Green Lake; Roddy, Piquet; Joseph, Beauval; Zephir Morin, La Croix; Raphael Corrigan, La Croix; Samuel Gardner, La Croix; Alex. winning of the West and the hardships and trials that beset the settlers of those days. It faithfully depicts the resentment of the Indians, the political intrigues and climaxes in a thrilling and spectacular reproduction of a massacre.

Dustin Farnum is cast in a heroic role and acquits himself with ease. Anne Cornwall, as the heroine, again shows that she is a clever actress. Ward Crane is the "heavy" and, as usual, is smoothness personified. Kathleen Key makes an alluring camp. Eddie Gribbon and Harry Todd provide many a laugh by their clever comedy work.

Others in this cast are Charles K. French, Noble Johnson, Harold Goodwin, George Fawcette, William Steele, Walter Rodgers, Ed. Wilson and Joe Bonomo.

STIRRING COMEDY

Gallagher plays the role of the coxswain of the college crew, of which Ben Lyon is made captain and stroke. Ford Sterling, Hugh Cameron, George Sidney and Claudette Colbert, featured this season in "The Barker" are in the supporting cast.

TO PICTURE DRAMA

Vaudeville at the Coliseum Theatre this week opens with a little girl dancer, a pupil of Miss Mona Jewel. Next comes George Durham, in a singing and talking act that pleases all who see it. Following that is a sketch, entitled "In 1927," a tragic comedy of the future, with Harold Bechtel and Bobbie Stephens and Will Marshall. Close in the vaudeville performance is Eva Hays, a popular soprano singer, who is well known to Victoria theatregoers.

On the screen is "Richard, the Lion-hearted." The title was chosen for the associated authors' screen version of Sir Walter Scott's famous novel, "The Talisman," an Allied Producers and Distributors Corporation release. The bluff and hearty monarch who is the outstanding figure in the celebrated Scott classic won such tremendous popularity through Wallace Beery's portrayal of him in "Douglas Fairbanks' Robin Hood" that the authors trio renamed their initial production for him.

Wallace Beery who scored such a success with his characterization of Richard in the Douglas Fairbanks production portrays the same role in "Richard, the Lion-hearted." Chet Withey is the director.

"CAT AND CANARY"
MAKES ACTION FOR
CAPITOL PATRONS

Something new in the film rendition of a stage mystery play is offered in the presentation of "The Cat and the Canary," at the Capitol Theatre to-day.

Paul Lent, whose first bid for public approbation was embodied in his bizarre production, "The Three Wax Works," employs a refinement of lighting technology which has lately been the vogue among camera craftsmen, following in the footsteps of the Continental school of directors.

It is not generally appreciated that a vast amount of technical experimentation preceded the development of the unusual camera angles employed to play up the shadowy effects in this picture, which called for the improvisation of a large assortment of mechanical aids, to produce some of the remarkable sequences in the production.

To heighten the effect of the eerie scenes which the director has worked out, he has not neglected comedy-relief, utilizing three comedians who can be depended upon to carry out his comedy ideas to the full. They are Gertrude Astor, Flora Finch, who is making her debut on the Coast, after years of comedy in the East, and Creighton Hale. Others in the cast are Forrest Stanley, Arthur Edmund Carew, Martha Minton, George Egan, Lucien Littlefield, Joe Murphy and Billie Engle.

LON CHANEY IN
DRAMATIC ROLE
AT DOMINION

Lon Chaney is at the Dominion Theatre this week in "The Unknown." "The Unknown" brings back that combination, Lon Chaney as star and Tod Browning as director, the two responsible for "The Unholy Three."

"The Unknown" is a mystery story in which Chaney plays the strange role in his entire career, a queer half-demon who hides his identity as leader of the underworld in the disguise of a side-show freak, an armless wonder. John Crawford plays the girl in the picture. For her he makes a supreme sacrifice which marks the most original and audacious climax of the film.

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA
WILL BE HEARD AT
SKATING ARENA HERE

At least one director begins his concert at the announced hour. That one is Lieut.-Commander John Philip Sousa, who this season makes his thirty-fifth annual tour at the head of his organization of one hundred bandmen and soloists.

For twelve years before he became director of his own organization, Sousa was director of the United States Marine Band. During that period he became schooled in the military theory that promptness is among the cardinal virtues, with the result that not more than once or twice a season does the exact minute upon which the concert is to begin fail to find Sousa on the conductor's stand.

"The way to begin a concert is to begin it," says Sousa. "Certainly one

WOMAN'S SIZE IN
HANDS OF BUTTS

Famous Colonel From Yonkers is Leading Character in "The Red Widow"

"The circumference of womankind is within my power. One word from me and women, either shrink or breathe easier."

Such is the declaration of Col. Cloer Hannibal Butts of Yonkers, N.Y., president of the G.H.B. Corset Factory, who is to play a very important role in "The Red Widow," the musical comedy to be presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre on September 29 and 30 and October 1.

Col. Butts has some interesting experience both in London, where he meets "The Red Widow," and in Russia, where he is apprehended by the police for aiding aliens to enter the country. Later he is brought face to face with Mrs. Butts and discovers her when he finds that she is firmly shackled. A lot of explanations are necessary before peace is restored in the family.

Those who attend "The Red Widow" will get a flock of laughs out of Col. Butts, which role is played by Art Kerr, who will be remembered as the great "Buddy" in "The Beauty Shop," another musical comedy which the Gyro Club produced here. Mr. Kerr is better than ever as Col. Butts.

The show is being presented by the Gyro Club and promises to be the finest amateur show ever put on in Victoria. The cast has been hard at work for some time, and the director, C. H. Lewis, is greatly pleased with what has been accomplished.

AUSTRALIAN BAND
DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Brilliant Musicians at Crystal Garden Yesterday

A rousing welcome was given to the Australian National Band when it appeared at the Crystal Garden for two performances yesterday, before departing on the Aorangi last evening for the Antipodes. This marked their third appearance in Victoria and yesterday's audiences was composed of many who enthusiastically endorsed the high opinions previously formed of these gifted bandmen from "down under."

The two programmes included the following numbers:

"Les Huguebots" (Maybeer); two jazz numbers, "Forgive Me" and "So's Your Old Lady" (cornet solo); "Mio" and Schubert's "Serenade"; "Nearer, My God, to Thee"; Sanderson songs, "Drake Goes West," "My Dear Soul," "Capitol," "Friend of Mine," "Company Sergeant-Major," "Tired Hands," "Up From Somerset" and "Until"; "In a Monastery Garden" (Kettley), and "Tipperry Land," a collection of popular war-time selections.

"March Brilliant" (Lt. Ord Hume); overture, "Barber of Seville" (Rusini); cornet solo, "Lost Chord" (Sullivan); selection from "Denora" (Meyerbeer); tone poem, "Labor and Love"; humorous, "McGregor's Wedding" (Campbell); cornet duet, "Ida and Dot" (Loosey); and Grand March, "Tannhauser."

By request the band concluded its afternoon programme with "Nearer, My God, to Thee," in which the brasses cleverly suggest the tones of an organ, and which proved such a popular number on the previous appearances of the band. Bandmaster Alfred H. Baile, the conductor, and his bandmen were given an ovation at the close of the evening performance.

Superlatives Used To Describe Ring Drama

Everything in Connection With Clash Between Tunney and Dempsey Is "Greatest In the History of the Ring"; Nothing Less Than a War Could Cause as Much Commotion as This Duel of Padded Mitts; Fans Will Take Over-coats, as the Weather Man Says Night Will Be Cool; Everything Is Ready

Chicago, Sept. 22.—For the brief space of thirty-nine minutes or less, Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, fighting for the heavyweight championship in a ten-round decision match at Soldier Field, will hold the eyes and ears of the sporting world.

For that short space of time, close to 150,000 pairs of eyes, paying upwards of $2,500,000 for the privilege, will focus upon the most expensive, the most talked-of and the most spectacular drama the ring has ever known. Millions all over the world will hear or read about the details of this gigantic spectacle, the greatest concentration of radio, telegraph and cable facilities in the history of communication for any single event.

SOME COMMOTION

To-day, as the time for the battle neared, as the rush of fans from all parts of the country reached its peak and as the last-minute hubbub increased, it seemed that nothing short of a great war could cause at one time as much commotion, as much debate and as great interest as this duel of padded mitts between a scholarly, scientific young champion of twenty-nine, and a two-fisted, rip-tearing slugger of thirty-two trying to batter his way back to the top of the pugilistic ladder.

Dempsey, on the crest of a wave of popular sentiment that attaches itself to no flaming comeback, seemed destined to enter the ring a favorite, so far as the crowd was concerned, but the general consensus regarded the outcome as a tossup.

BETTING STRAIGHTS

Betting odds, standing after a drift of several days toward Dempsey, were largely on a basis of even money and gave you your pick. The odds on a knockout favored Dempsey, considered to be the hardest puncher of the two, but the majority of newspaper experts have given their choice to Tunney.

Such strong support for the challenger, in the face of ring history, that always has made champions pronounced favorites, was itself unprecedented, but it was only one of the record-breaking angles. Whether it was the size of the crowd, the amount of the gate receipts, the extent of the radio hookup, the immensity of the newspaper and press association operations, the number of assembled critics or the various financial arrangements—all surpassed anything in fight annals.

Tunney was assured an unprecedented purse of $1,000,000 regardless of whether he retains or loses his grip on the principal crown of the prize ring. Dempsey adds $450,000 to a collection of ring earnings that already have run well over $2,000,000, to prove beyond a doubt that the Mansueti is the greatest drawing card in boxing history.

WEATHER ALL RIGHT

The traditional weather luck of the man who pulls the strings to this epoch-making sports show, Tex Rickard, seemed as good as weather. A prediction of clear weather. It was clearly felt that a cool evening was in prospect, however, which would cause the crowd to bumble up as it usually does for football games.

It will be a "highbrow" crowd that gathers for this up-to-date gladiatorial contest, guided by the "ante" of a snowman who has raised his "ante" for the principals in twenty-one years from around $35,000 to a purse of $1,450,000. Boxing promotion scales are the highest and most vivid peak in the country's biggest arena before a gathering of society, millionaire business leaders, occupying the choicest $40 seats.

More fandom, at large, will border the outer darkness of this notable inside cast, paying from $5 for a birds-eye view of the action to $100 for the ring, up to $40 for less favored sections of the "ring-side" area. The principal actors in this biggest of boxing dramas, heavily guarded by the police, will be seen in the ring early. Dempsey spent the night in a Chicago hotel, while Tunney was to arrive early in the morning to go into seclusion preliminary to the weighing-in ceremony early this afternoon. Dempsey was declared to be close to the savage, aggressive fighting machine of the days when he knocked out Willard, Carpenter and Phipps. Tunney, the master boxer, was pronounced more skillful, more confident and better equipped to defend his crown, despite a year of idleness, than he was when he beat Dempsey last September.

Dempsey's hopes of a glory and a comeback to the heights he held for seven years were built on the rushing, give-and-take fury of his attack. The champion's reliance was on his footwork, his counter-attacking effectiveness and resourcefulness.

TUNNEY'S EYE FACTOR

Tunney's right eye was a factor that concerned many of those betting on the fight. It was injured and cut twice in training. Under careful treatment it healed rapidly and completely, in outward appearance, but it may be subject to renewed and fatal damage. The selection of the judges and referee who will decide the issues remained a matter of speculation to-day.

The big battle was to start at approximately 8:45 p.m. Chicago Daylight time under last-minute agreement, but in this was subject to change. In the event of threatening weather, Tex Rickard said it would be moved ahead of schedule. The preliminary bouts were to start at 8 p.m.

Vancouver Team Wins Desborough Cup in Fast Time

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Ozell West and Harry Lacternman this year carried off the Desborough Cup life-saving championship, of British Columbia, a massive silver cup valued at $600. Their time was 6 minutes 14 seconds, which is given as a Canadian record.

West will be selected to represent Canada in the coming Olympic Games, it is said. He is at present attending Stanford University, California.

Dempsey Greatest Knockout Artist In Pugilistic History

$33,333.33 A MINUTE FOR CHAMPION IF BOUT GOES LIMIT

The figures that showed Tunney, with a guarantee of $1,000,000, will receive $100,000 a round, or $33,333.33 a minute for his ten rounds of labor against Dempsey—if the bout goes the limit, at the $100,000 a day rate he received as a soldier during the nineteen months of service in the World War, he would be obliged to engage in 1754 more wars to earn the sum Tex Rickard will pay him for only thirty minutes' work to-night.

WITH AID OF TREE NEW YORKER GETS A "ONE" AT COLWOOD

It's a long way from New York to Victoria when you have to make the journey to get a hole in one. But A. J. Hopkins, resident in Gotham five months every year by force of commercial interest and seven months in Victoria because he thinks it is the finest spot on earth, did the trick at the seventh hole at the Colwood Golf Club yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hopkins was playing with Jack Maston, city champion, and Russell Ker, no mean wielder of the hickory himself, when he performed the feat. But he insists that some explanation be given. His chest failed to expand as other chests have on similar occasions. There was no symmetrical flight, no perfect pitch on to the emerald, no thrill at seeing the little white sphere disappear into the cup.

There was a hole in the left of the rocky road to the hole, and it was this obstacle which got in the way of Mr. Hopkins' ball, really in the way, so he thought. As a matter of fact nobody saw the ball drop and the conclusion was reached that it had embedded itself in the ample branches of the fir. Another ball was played, the reservation having been made that if the first one was found, "it's a Dunlop one."

It was thought that the incident had ended. But there was the little old "Dunlop one" nestling at the bottom of the cup. Soon after the discovery had been made a meeting was held at the club house and the customary discussion took place.

Foresters Capture Softball Title By Victory Over Bays

By defeating the Hudson's Bay 8-7 the Foresters last night captured the championship of the "D" section of the Softball League. The lodge men scored eight runs in the first two innings and sewed up the game, although the Bays made a great effort to pull through with a victory. In the last of the seventh inning the Bays were within one run of tying the score with two men on base, but the Foresters defeated in retiring the side without a runner scoring.

Ernie Stock umpired. The teams were as follows:

Foresters—C. Bowden lb., D. Holman ss., L. Ross 2b., B. Dunk lf., J. Latham cf., B. Holman 3b., J. Williams c., D. Doherty p., and F. Boden rf.

Hudson's Bay—Hanson lb., Alexander c., Shrimpton p., Sherrett 2b., Addie lf., Bleasdale cf., Campton 3b., Fea lf., Gruger rf.

Walter Hagen Buys Rochester Ball Club

Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 22.—Announcement was made to-day that Walter Hagen, internationally famous golfer, has purchased the Rochester International League baseball club from John A. Hicks and William Gilbert.

Everyone Is Busy Picking a Winner For Bout To-night

Jim Jeffries Thinks Dempsey Will Win, But Jack Britton Swings Other Way

"Green-horn" Just as Likely to be Right as Much Touted Experts

Nearly every person in town is interested in the big fight at Chicago to-night and everyone has a leaning one way or the other. The majority of the fans here are pulling strongly for Dempsey to win. Although Dempsey was extremely unpopular a few years ago when his "war record" was revealed to the world, there has been a tremendous switch since his defeat by Tunney in Philadelphia last September. When he refused to use an alibi for his defeat and said, "the best man won," he made scores of friends everywhere.

To-night he goes into the ring to meet the man who defeated him last year. Tunney, a much misunderstood fellow, has no popular appeal as a result many fans underestimate his fighting ability.

The experts have set down their choices for to-night, but in the end they have no more success than the average man in the street. The experts all picked Sharkey to beat Dempsey last year, but they were cock-eyed that time. So any man's choice is as good as an expert.

Here are the choice of some people, who "should know":

JEFFRIES PICKS JACK

Chicago, Sept. 22.—James J. Jeffries, one-time heavyweight champion, who tried to come back and failed, thinks that Jack Dempsey will shatter ring traditions and regain his crown to-night.

PA PICKS SON

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Dempsey's father, Hiram, picked his famous son to win by a knockout within seven rounds. In condition, he said, his boy was the best fighter in the world.

WHAT EXPERTS SAY

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Tunney's supporters insist that the fighting machine that all but crushed the slugger a year ago in the rain at Philadelphia is equipped to repeat, probably in more decisive fashion. Dempsey's backers see the old Tennessee mauler as once more the aggressive, battering slugger, as the batter that knocked out Willard, Carpenter, Phipps and Sharkey, aggressive, if not quite as fast as of yore, but far from the floundering figure of 1926.

To the experts summing up rival pros and cons, it appears that Tunney has the decided edge in speed, boxing ability as well as three years in age and the confidence that comes to a champion. Dempsey, on the other hand, is conceded the more dangerous punch, a more aggressive attack and a flaming spirit of combat that is willing to risk everything. Tunney is cool, cautious and crafty; Dempsey, fiery and willing to take a barrage of blows in order to land his own punches. In gameness and stamina they seem well matched.

If Dempsey's punching powers can break through Tunney's clever defence, the old mauler may blast his way back to the championship, something that no other heavyweight has ever done. Corbett, Jeffries and Willard all have

NO TRICKERY OR BLUNDERS OVER FIGHT DECISION

Chicago, Sept. 22.—In the words of John Highmeier, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, to guard against "blunders or trickery" the members of the boxing board will pass on the verdict of the two judges and the referee in the case of a foul, the commission's physician will make an examination and all officials will be consulted before the verdict is reached. If the fight goes the limit, official announcers will collect the slips of the judges and referee and refer them to the commission before making the hand of the winner or otherwise indicating the outcome.

Bill Peden Does 40 Miles An Hour And Thrills Folks

Victoria Rider Beats Jim Davies by Half-mile in Stanley Park Race

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—"Big Bill" Peden, Victoria, was the hero of the Vancouver Bicycle Club's annual field day yesterday. He captured the Moody trophy for the race around Stanley Park, making a new record of 15:13 2-5 for the distance. He finished half a mile in front of James Davies, British Columbia and Canadian cycling champion. According to the motorcycle officer who accompanied the riders, Peden was going over forty miles an hour going down the big hill. Peden also finished first in the novelty race and third in the 220-yard dash.

Stan Jackson, Victoria, won the one-mile open handicap in 2:10 8-5, placed second in the eight-mile road race, third in the novelty race and was just beaten across the line for second place in the race around the park by Davies. Davies, the champion, did not win a race.

Leo Marchiori won the club championship for A class riders.

failed in the task that Dempsey has set for himself.

BRITTON FOR GENE

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, regarded as the last word in the business of forecasting boxing results, picks Tunney to knock out Dempsey within eight rounds. He picked Tommy Gibbons to stay fifteen rounds with Dempsey; he picked Harry Greb to defeat Tommy Gibbons, and he picked Tunney to beat Dempsey last year.

"I will not be surprised if Tunney scores a knockout any time after the second round," he says. "I am sure it will be over by the eighth, as Dempsey will be so badly battered by that time that the referee will stop it."

"Tunney is the best boxer the heavyweight division has seen since Jack Johnson. He is faster than Dempsey, and also stronger. Tunney is the most underrated champion we have ever had."

Alexa Fraser Beats British Champion In U.S. Women's Golf

Ottawa Golfer Scores Brilliant Triumph Over Mile de la Chaume

Ada MacKenzie of Toronto Also Put Out Strong American, Miss Van Wie

Garden City, N.Y., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, Ottawa, champion of the United States in 1916, 1919 and 1920, to-day eliminated Mile Simone de la Chaume of France, champion of her own country and England, in the third round of the national women's golf championship tournament, three up and two to play. Mrs. Fraser won three up at the turn.

Miss Ada MacKenzie, Toronto, Canadian titleholder, came from behind to down Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, one up.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N.J., eked a one-up victory over Miss Jenny Yonkers, N.J., former holder of the crown, after they had gone two extra holes.

Garden City, N.Y., Sept. 22.—An international battle between Mile Simone de la Chaume of France and Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, American veteran now living in Canada, attracted most attention to-day as eight contestants for women's golf championship of the United States teed off in the third round of match play.

First off the tee were Miss Ada MacKenzie of Canada and Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, waging another international fight. In the first four holes Van Wie surprised by gaining a two up lead. A similar lead was won at the start by Mrs. Adrian Burns of Kansas City over Mrs. Harry Pressler of Los Angeles, Western champion.

Miss Maureen Orcutt and Miss Marie Jenny, Metropolitan stars, finished their first four holes all square.

Roy Cliffe Knocked Out by Negro Boxer

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—John Lester Johnson, New York, negro, knocked out Roy Cliffe of Seattle, in the first round of their scheduled ten-round bout at National Hall here last night.

Barry Off For Home

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Bert Barry, the English carman, who met defeat in his challenge match with Major Goodell, world's champion, on Burrard Inlet Labor Day, leaves for his home in England to-night at 6:30 o'clock.

Barry plans to return next March, accompanied by his brother, Lou, to prepare for a proposed match with Goodell May 24.

CAPABLANCA LEADS

Buenos Aires, Sept. 22.—Jose Capablanca of Cuba, who is defending his title as world's chess champion, had a slight advantage over Alexander Alekhine, Russian challenger, at the 19th move in the third game of the series last night. The champion resigned the first game and obtained a draw in the second.

In one of Dempsey's early fights he met Gunboat Smith, then the hardest hitter in the world with the possible exception of Sam Langford. Smith nearly knocked Dempsey's head off by landing that terrific overhand right on his jaw in the first round. Jack came back to his corner "goofy," but recovered and rushed Smith recklessly, beating him badly in the four rounds. Later he knocked the gunner out in a round.

THREE HITS FOR A K.O.

The Fulton knockout was a typical Dempsey feat. Fred Fulton was then a dangerous heavyweight, four inches taller than Dempsey, twenty pounds heavier, a great boxer with a tremendous reach. Fulton expected Dempsey to rush, but Jack stepped out from his corner and waited. Fulton advanced cautiously, and started with a light jab, immediately swaying in and seizing both of Dempsey's arms in a close clinch. Dempsey twisted his body back to free his left arm, and hooked an overhand at Fulton's jaw. The blow hit high on the right cheekbone and staggered Fulton to the ropes. Dempsey walked after him. Fulton dodged right and left and got away toward the middle of the ring. Dempsey plunged forward hit Fulton a left hook in the body—a clean knockout blow. As Fulton bent forward Dempsey clipped him on the chin with the right, knocked him over in range of the right, and shot that right to his jaw. He knocked Fulton out with the left body hook, and left him twice over before he could fall. Any of the three blows might have been a knockout. Fulton certainly was finished. He fell backward at full length, slid from the lower rope to the flat on his back, and when the count was finished they carried him to his corner.

FINISHES OPPONENT

It is characteristic of Dempsey's speed and fighting instinct that he never always gets in at least one blow when his man is falling. He makes sure of that finish. He sunk Willard with a right under the heart and knocked him on his back with a left hook to the jaw while he was falling. He stunned Billy Miske with a hook on the chin and dropped him with a terrific smash in the ribs.

Eighty thousand people saw Dempsey knock Jack Sharkey in July. He broke Sharkey down with a fierce right in the pit of the stomach and cracked him on the jaw with a left hook as he doubled forward. The referee could have counted a minute instead of ten seconds, and Sharkey would have been right there on the floor.

Dempsey punches from anywhere and has a punch for every opening. At New Orleans he knocked Carl Morris, a 220-pounder, out with the first punch in the first round. It was in the pit of the stomach and Morris fell on his face. When they lifted him up, completely paralyzed for the moment, his tongue was coated with resin dust, and sweat was in his starting eyes.

Carpenter tried to bend over and cover his head with his crossed arms. Dempsey cracked him—a fair punch with the padded knuckles—on the back of the head behind the ear. Georges (Concluded on Page 15)

If In Toledo Form, Jack Will Easily Whip Gene

So Says Edgren, But He Is Not Sure if Dempsey Can Come to Within Eighty Per Cent of Form That Brought Him World's Heavyweight Championship Eight Years Ago; What Great Fight Dempsey and Fitzsimmons Would Have Put Up If They Had Ever Met

By ROBERT EDGREN

Jack Dempsey has been the greatest knockout artist in all the history of boxing. He has had only one rival among the heavyweights, and that was Bob Fitzsimmons. How Dempsey and Fitzsimmons would have come out, if they could have fought when in their prime, always will be an unsettled question. The Dempsey weight might not make much difference in such a fight. Ruby Robert was a much more scientific hitter. He studied timing and physiology, cause and effect, and took a keen delight in planning a knockout and executing it with absolute precision. Dempsey has been entirely unlike old Bob in this. His knockout career resulted from a fierce hunger for fast fighting at close quarters, the gambling whirl of blows, tremendous speed, the caveman instinct to crush and destroy. Dempsey never held back punches except in two fights that I know of. He even felt a warming satisfaction in seeing husky spar partners on the floor—a thing that never interested old Fitz at all.

RECKLESSLY DETERMINED

Speed, and accuracy that goes with speed, combined with the unusual power his long, supple muscles could exert to beat his opponent, made Dempsey a fighter he was in his prime. While he hasn't lost all of his old speed to-day, and having lost some of his speed has lost some of his hitting power and ability to beat his opponent by using his still a very dangerous fighter, because he is above the average physically and is absolutely the gamest and most recklessly determined man in the ring.

Gameness and determination whipped Jack Sharkey. It enabled Dempsey last year to carry the fight with Gene Tunney throughout ten rounds when he was in the best of his condition, and continually being hit.

DEMPSEY ALWAYS TRYING

It's the biggest factor in the coming fight with Tunney. If Dempsey wins with Tunney, if Dempsey wins with a right under the heart and a man fully his equal in strength, and he'll do it because nothing can discourage him or make him give up trying. In this matter he's incomparably better than Tunney, who has often shown extreme caution in fights that went against him. The more a fight goes against Dempsey, the harder and more he fights. Some of Tunney's bouts, where he met strong opposition, have been plain fiascos. Instead of being stung to fury when he is hurt, Gene drops back to his running, circling evasion, with only occasional steps to fight when he sees safe openings. Perhaps this is the right way to fight—the domination of the physical brute, fighting impulse by a calculating mind. Perhaps, if Tunney hadn't circled and backed away and run around the ring part of the time at Philadelphia, he might not have become champion. And perhaps he would rather stay in there and fight if nothing but the outcome of the fight itself depended upon his efforts. But the fact remains that Dempsey's style has made him popular, and Tunney will have to show something more before he is recognized as a really great champion. Recklessness is spectacular. It gives the thrill, and what to people pay millions for, at a championship, but the thrill of seeing such a cataclysmic clash as Dempsey and Fitzsimmons four years ago.

A TWO-FISTED FIGHTER

Dempsey always was a tremendous hitter. He developed harder hitting, with left hand as well as right, under Jack Kearns's coaching when Kearns first managed him. Kearns saw that Dempsey could win a championship if he would develop his natural speed and hitting power, and not try to box in the common way. The idea worked out.

RECORD ATTENDANCE

Chicago, Sept. 22.—More than 1,000,000 fans have passed through the turnstiles of the Cubs' baseball park here this season, establishing what the Chicago Club announced yesterday was a new National League season attendance record.

The best previous figure was about 970,000 at the Giants' Polo Grounds in New York several years ago. The 1,000,000 mark was passed here Saturday and the Cubs expect a total attendance of 1,200,000. The Cubs led the league last season with an attendance of about 900,000.

Giants Have Scant Chance of Beating Pirates Out of Flag

Must Make Clean Sweep of Series With Pittsburgh to Oust Present Leaders

Pirates Increased Lead Yesterday by Beating Brooklyn; Yanks Terrible

New York, Sept. 22.—Pittsburgh defeated Brooklyn in the only game in the National League yesterday, 4-2. The victory sent Pittsburgh into the four-game series with the Giants with a lead of three and one-half games. New York's only chances for the National League pennant rests almost wholly upon the ability of the Giants to sweep the series. They play a double-header to-day with Pittsburgh. The St. Louis Cardinals' sweep of the series with Boston and New York breaking even with Pittsburgh, the Giants will find themselves in third place.

John Miljus, who was purchased in mid-season from Seattle of the Coast League by the Pittsburgh Pirates, yielded only five hits yesterday against nine gathered off McWeeny of the Robins. The Pirates' attack was concentrated in the fourth inning when four angles and McWeeny's wisdom allowed four runs to cross the plate. THE RALLY THAT WON

After one batter had been retired Grantham singled and reached second safely when McWeeny made a bad throw on an attempted force-out on a grounder by Harris. Gooch drove Grantham home with a single, putting Harris at second. Harris romped over the plate on a wild pitch and Gooch went to third. Gooch struck out. Gooch scored as Lloyd Warner beat out a hit. The latter stole second and after Barnhart was given a pass Paul Warner made his brother with a single. Lloyd Warner made three angles to set a new modern major league record for one base hits in the season. He tied the old mark of 170 achieved by John T. Smith, who was in the Browns in 1921 during yesterday's game.

YANKES LOOKED BAD

The Yankees set out yesterday to tie the American League record for games won during a baseball season. New York's world series representatives were expected to win their 195th victory against Detroit and equal the 1914 mark of the Boston Red Sox, but instead they showed how badly a championship club can play on an off day.

It was the worst display of fielding given by the Yankees this season. Sam Gibson held the Yanks to seven hits and had a shutout until the seventh inning. Then Babe Ruth knocked the ball into the right bleachers. The Tigers won the contest 6-1. The Yankees made six errors.

New York has seven games to play and must win four more homers to equal his 1921 record.

Lisensbee of Washington pitched one of those games he flashed often in early season play when he held the St. Louis Browns to one hit yesterday and shut them out 10-0.

A double by Rollins in the last of the ninth gave the Boston Red Sox a 3-2 win over Chicago.

After Cleveland had taken the opening game of the series from Philadelphia 6-5, Ty Cobb left for a hunting trip into Wyoming. Cobb said he had not decided whether he would play another day of baseball.

Yesterday's results were as follows:

C.N.R. ARRANGES TOUR FOR FARMERS

Agricultural Workers From All Over Canada Will Visit U.K. Next January

Opportunity is to be provided early next January, for from 100 to 200 Canadian farmers to go overseas for a study at close range of the great marketing centres of the Old Land, with a special study of co-operative marketing in Denmark, by the organization of a "Farmers Marketing Tour" now being undertaken by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways.

The marketing tour, conceived by Dr. W. J. Black, Director of Colonization, Agriculture and Natural Resources of the Canadian National Railways, is primarily a plan to advance the cause of wider markets for Canadian products and of better marketing methods, by giving the Canadian farmer opportunity for personal contact with the great marketing centres. The Old Country is the ultimate market for the Canadian farmer, and it is to the discriminating taste of this market he must cater. An intimate understanding of what is desired by this market, and of the conditions under which Canadian products are handled, obviously would be of immense value to the farmer on this side of the water.

Plans for the tour are now sufficiently advanced at the Montreal headquarters of the Canadian National Railways, to give some indications of the wide scope of the tour and its particular attractiveness. The tour will be of some six-weeks' duration, leaving Montreal in early September, and providing a full thirty days in Britain and Denmark, the cost of the tour being put so low as to be within reach of the farmer.

The tour is being designed to provide the following:

First—Methods of handling Canadian products in the great marketing centres of the Old Land.

Second—Opportunities for the extension of markets for our own products.

Third—What is demanded by the old world markets of packing and shipping, etc.

Fourth—Great breeding establishments and historic houses, and co-operative marketing systems in the world.

An opportunity to see famous historic spots and sights of the Old Land, and to meet outstanding leaders in agriculture and other spheres of life.

Plans for the tour provide for landing at Liverpool, where a day will be spent in seeing the great Mersey docks and harbor facilities, grain elevators and grain exchanges, cattle market, etc.

From Liverpool, the tour will proceed by a selected route through England and Scotland, visiting outstanding marketing centres and famous livestock farms, with full opportunity for study of every possible angle of agriculture in general and marketing in particular. Considerable time will be spent in and around London, with studies of such places as the Smithfield cattle market and the famous Covent Garden fruit and produce market. Billingsgate fish market, Harrod's, the King's farm at Windsor, Chiver's farm at Cambridge and so forth.

At Glasgow, there are the Merchand Wharves where live Canadian cattle are handled and sold by auction, either for slaughtering or for finishing on Old Country feed lots may be taken.

There are only a few of the points to be covered in the thirty-day tour, which will include a week spent in Denmark, viewing at close range various co-operative organizations, and seeing interesting sights in this delightful land.

Full provision is to be made on the entire tour for taking advantage of the right-sewing opportunities, visits to historic spots, etc.

The Japanese freighter Yosha Maru will commence loading lumber at Bithet dock to-morrow morning. King Brothers are advised. She will take altogether 800,000 feet from this port or Atlantic Coast ports.

AUSTRALIAN BAND SAILS ON AORANGI

Famous Musicians Return to Homes After Three Years of Touring

Motorship Sailed Last Night For Antipodes; Head of Line Is Passenger

Taking back to their native country the Australian National Band, the Canadian-Australasian line motorship Aorangi, Commander R. Crawford sailed from Victoria last night for Honolulu, Fiji, Australia and New Zealand.

The band, which is conducted by Arthur Ball, boarded the vessel after the conclusion of a farewell engagement at the Crystal Garden. During the last three years, this band, which was organized for the Wembley Exhibition, has traveled over 150,000 miles in England, Africa, New Zealand and Canada, and has been practically round the world three times.

Sir Charles Holdsworth, managing director of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, which operates the vessel, boarded the Aorangi at this port, was a homeward bound passenger. Sir Charles is returning after a brief trip to London, England, with Lady Holdsworth. The company is well satisfied with its Sydney-Victoria, Vancouver connection, he declared. With the introduction of the Aorangi, largest motorship on the Pacific, in January, 1925, they had established an efficient service which will be sufficient to handle traffic for some time, and no immediate changes are contemplated.

ZULU WAR VETERAN

General Sir Charles Mansfield Clarke, Zulu war veteran, was another passenger, going to visit the scene of a Maori war in which he was engaged. He is eighty-eight years of age but still active.

The motorship took out 600 passengers. She also had over 3,000 tons of freight, including 7,000 crates of onions, 4,000 boxes of British Columbia apples, automobiles, newspaper, canned salmon and general freight.

AERIAL PATROL ENDS FOR YEAR

Major D. R. MacLaren Completes Season Flying Out of Prince Rupert

Completing the aerial patrol of the fishing grounds from a base at Prince Rupert, Major D. R. MacLaren, D.A.O. of the Pacific Airways Limited, is returning to Vancouver after over a year's flying in which 7,000 miles were flown in the protection of the fishery grounds.

Major MacLaren urges the use of larger aircraft, capable of carrying three or four men, and with a cruising speed of sixty miles an hour for flights of six to seven hours. Night flying also can be undertaken with advantage, he says, as aircraft with parachute flares are able to cover more ground than surface boats and do much the same type of work.

Assisting the pilot, who contracted with the Government for a patrol of the area for fishery purposes, were Harold Davenport, fitter, and W. Jacquot, rigger.

During the season Major MacLaren flew without event in the regular routine course of his duties, save for one engine failure, and that was righted in short order. At Butedale the machine used developed trouble from a broken connecting rod and the engine had to be replaced after a forced landing.

The use of aircraft in the co-ordination of the work of the fishery patrol service is proving a success, believes the pilot, who found cannery operators and all identified with the industry keenly alive to the improvement of control made possible by means of air patrol and transportation of the fishery inspectors.

Major MacLaren was formerly in command at the B.C. Air Station at Jericho Beach.

FIVE CARS OF SILK IN FRASER RIVER

Crews Work to Salvage Cars Hurled Off C.P.R. Track

Vancouver, Sept. 22.—Two Canadian Pacific Railway wrecking crews have been working since Wednesday evening in an effort to salvage five cars loaded with new silk, which were hurled into the Fraser River when ten cars of a Canadian Pacific Railway silk train were derailed two miles east of Yale about 2:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Telegraphic service east of Yale, which was interrupted when the cars carried out several poles, was recovered Wednesday evening.

Latest reports from the scene of the accident are to the effect that the five cars, carrying silk valued at $1,500,000, are in the Eastern Canadian and United States markets, are still in the river, and railway authorities are unable to predict when they will be salvaged.

Although it is reported that immersion in the river will cause little damage to the silk, which is said to be the raw product, advice from Yale indicates that at least one car in the river was smashed in its descent down the rocky bank, and its contents are floating down the Fraser.

The train was carrying a silk cargo unloaded from the O. S. K. line Paris Maru at Vancouver Tuesday night. The five cars, carrying silk valued at $1,500,000, are in the Eastern Canadian and United States markets, are still in the river, and railway authorities are unable to predict when they will be salvaged.

URGES BROCKVILLE AS CANAL TERMINAL

Has no U.S. City Opposite to Appropriate Canadian Trade, Says Hon. C. A. Dunning

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—"We are endeavoring to settle the problem of selecting the Welland Canal terminal in the same manner as a businessman would deal with a business problem, and with the idea of keeping within Canadian channels the maximum of Canadian trade."

So stated Hon. Chas. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, in reply to a deputation of 400 people who urged upon the Government the selection of Brockville as the port terminal.

Mr. Dunning declared that every effort was being made to obtain all the information. An inter-departmental committee had been formed with this end in view, and on this committee was the railway economic expert from the Canadian National Railways.

As yet the report of this committee had not been received. When it was received, said Mr. Dunning, he would certainly study the document and it would also be his duty to place the report before his colleagues in the Cabinet.

Earliest consideration would be given, Mr. Dunning said, to the representations made by the deputation. Senator Hardy supported Brockville's claim as did also W. H. Comstock and Major Boyd.

Mr. Prescott was selected. Mr. Comstock said, would the location of the port terminal at that point not be conducive to building up Ogdensburg as "another Buffalo."

Brockville, on the other hand, had no large American town or city opposite on the American side possessing the facilities for appropriating Canadian trade.

A Simple Treatment for Those Who Suffer—and It's Effective!

Hundreds of people in Victoria have told us of the relief they have obtained by the use of this simple, natural remedy. Many have been so impressed with the health-giving qualities of this magnetic belt discovery that they have not hesitated to write testimonials giving their experience. The following is an example:

1124 Oxford Street, Victoria, B.C., Sept. 20, 1927.

Dear Sir:—

I wish to add my testimony to the benefits of the I-on-a-co Belt. I have been suffering intense pain with rheumatism for more than six months and was advised to use the I-on-a-co Belt, and must say the result is wonderful.

I suffer no more pain and I feel more fit than I have done for a long time.

The I-on-a-co Belt is the simplest and easiest way to recover health which I have seen. I recommend this belt to anyone who is in need of relief.

Yours truly,
H. BOGART.

On the Blotter

Victoria police marksmen are preparing for the big competitive event of the Northwest of 1927 at Fort Lawton, Washington, September 25. The squad, lacking its crack shot, John Rogers, took a strong second in a ten-man battle on the range of Vancouver recently, and with Rogers back on the line, they consider themselves in a position to make an even more creditable showing when they fire at Fort Lawton.

Six Victorians are fighting for places on the five-man team which will represent the city on Sunday, Rogers's selection is a foregone conclusion, and Will Stark and Albert Wells are in line. Marcus Phillips is another certainty for the squad. It remains for T. Harvey Bamford and Walter "Dutch" Caldwell, to prove themselves for a place.

There is a rattle and roar from the underground range at police headquarters every night. The revolver men are down there, smashing holes in cardboard targets until the barrels of their guns are hot.

Langford, Sept. 22.—About forty people spent a delightful evening Wednesday at Langford Lakeside by the lake. The occasion being a community kitchen shower to Charles Norman Willard, who was married on Monday to Miss E. Bertha Leedham. The ballroom had been prettily decorated with masses of autumn flowers and foliage. J. Stuart Yates acted as chairman. A beautiful old-fashioned bouquet arranged by Mrs. George Eldridge was presented to the bride, while the miniature kewpie bride and bridegroom decorating the piano were greatly admired. The musical program was in the hands of Mrs. Florence Simpson and consisted of songs and community singing, led by Frank Smedley. Jack Ramsden made a hit with his humorous recitals, and Miss Doris Chandler delighted her listeners with pianoforte solos. An interesting competition, entitled the "Bridgroom's Romance," was won by Mrs. J. McTavish and Percy Welch. The numerous gifts, testifying the high esteem the bridegroom is held in the neighborhood were drawn into the room in a prettily decorated wagon by Tiger Tim (Henry Bennett), who had to make several trips as over fifty presents were received of a most useful and various descriptions. Several of the parcels were accompanied by regional verse which was read out by the chairman. The bride pair thanked their many friends most heartily, after which refreshments were served. Dancing concluded the evening, the music being supplied by Miss Doris

Chandler and the Orthophonic. The visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LeQueune, Mr. and Mrs. Tomkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. O. ## Keating

The Young People's Club of the South Saanich United Church met in the church for the regular meeting, with a large attendance of members and several visitors present. The president, Miss Christie MacNab, was in the chair. A challenge for a debate with the Young People's Club of the First Baptist Church in Victoria was accepted early in the year, and will be held next month. A report on the progress of the tennis court on the church grounds was given by Mr. Albert Hafer.

The president announced that the annual rally day for Sunday schools and young people of the United Church, set for September 28, would be observed at South Saanich on Sunday, October 2, when the programme for the rally will be given by the young people. At the close of the business meeting the president called upon Rev. Mr. McNaughton, of Deep Cove, formerly of Saskatchewan, to address the members. The evening's speaker was arranged for by the religious convener, Miss Deering and Rev. M. Lees. Mr. McNaughton chose as his subject, "Life's Challenge," which proved very interesting and was much appreciated by all present.

The meeting was adjourned and everyone repaired to the parlor of the church, where a social hour was spent. Miss Lola Lawrie, a bride-elect for October, being the guest of honor.

The tea table had been daintily decorated with pink crepe paper and mauve cosmos, and centred with a beautiful bride doll, by Misses Hazel Lamont and Violet McChally. Rev. Mr. Lees, on behalf of the members, presented Miss Lawrie with a beautiful china tea set, and expressed appreciation of her interest and loyal service as a member of the Young People's Club. Miss Lawrie thanked the members in a few well chosen words, and
